

Parking on St Marks Estate Public Consultation

Background

We have previously written to people on the St Marks Estate to propose a scheme to manage and control on-street parking. We have listened to your feedback and the scheme, including parking permits for residents, will be going ahead.

Previous consultation

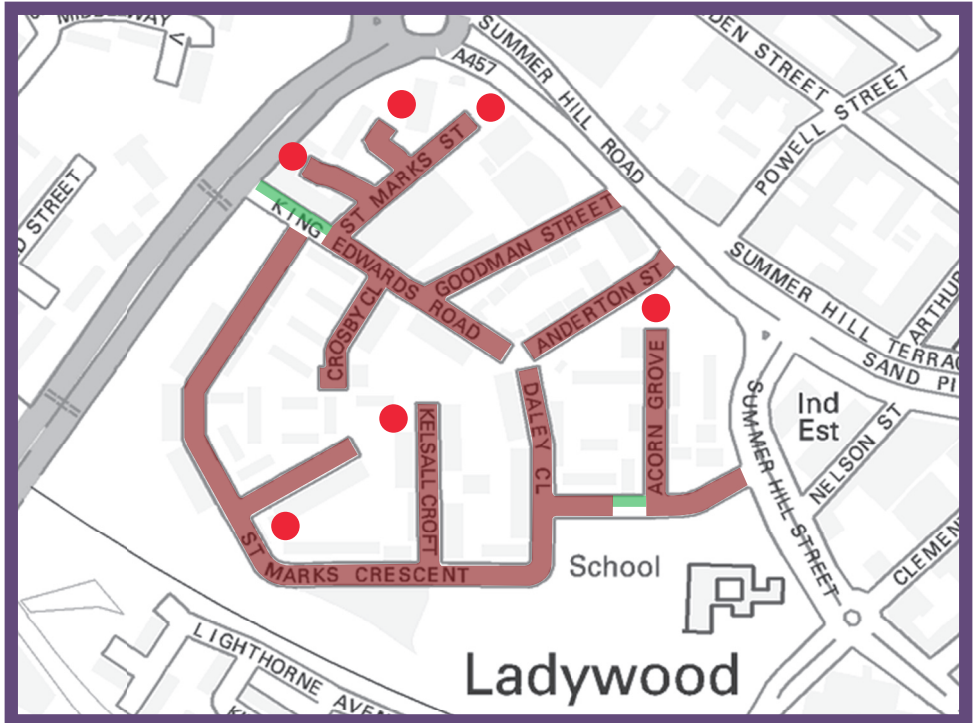

Some people told us that they park in one of the parking areas belonging to the council's housing department, and think that on-street parking restrictions might mean non-residents park in these spaces. To stop this happening, we could include those parking areas in the scheme, so that only vehicles with a resident permit could park there.

This consultation

This consultation is to ask whether you would like us to include the housing owned parking areas in the parking controls. Private parking and other off-street parking are not part of the consultation and would not be affected.

The map inside this leaflet shows the area of St Marks which will have parking controls and the type of parking which will be allowed on each street. We have already consulted you about the on-street arrangements; they are shown on the map so you can see the housing parking areas in the context of the wider scheme.

The housing owned parking areas are marked on the map in red.

Key:

Business or resident permit holders only

Parking area owned by Birmingham City Council Housing Services

Limited waiting

Parking restrictions will operate between 8am and 7.30pm, Monday to Saturday. At other times, anyone may park on-street free of charge. Double yellow lines apply at all times.

More information and a more detailed map are online at

On-street parking

This is the parking scheme we have already consulted on and which will be implemented:

- Permit parking for local residents and workers; permits are valid for one year and currently cost *£16 for a household's first resident permit, £32 for each extra resident permit in a household and £125 for a business permit for local workers. Residents will also be able to buy daily permits for visitors.
- Free limited waiting parking, limited to one hour on most roads, three hours on Guild Close.
- Areas of no waiting (double yellow lines).

Parking areas owned by the council's housing department:

These areas are the subject of this consultation. We are asking which of the two options you would prefer.

Option one:

Parking areas owned by the council's housing department and marked in red on the map are included in the St Marks parking scheme.

Any resident in the area can purchase a resident permit and park here. Parking enforcement officers will issue Penalty Charge Notices (parking tickets) to anyone parking here illegally.

Business permit holders will not be allowed to park here. Daily permits for visitors will be valid.

Option two:

Parking areas owned by the council's housing department and marked in red on the map are not included in the St Marks parking scheme.

Council tenants can continue to park in these areas without a permit but there will be no enforcement action against other vehicles parking in the area so it is possible that other people would park here too.

*Prices are subject to review and may change before this scheme comes into operation

What happens next?

When the consultation has closed, we will review all your responses and decide whether the housing parking areas will be included in the parking scheme.

After this, there will be a period of legal consultation on the Traffic Regulation Order before the scheme can be implemented.
