1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1.1 Overview

As a result of the Health and Social Care Act 2012, the responsibility to commission pharmacies transferred to NHS England. Additionally the responsibility to develop a pharmaceutical needs assessment (PNA) for the city has passed from the Primary Care Trusts to the Birmingham Health and Wellbeing Board (HWB).

A Pharmaceutical Needs Assessment (PNA) is the primary document required to help determine the provision of pharmaceutical services in the city and should form part of the wider Joint Strategic Needs Assessment (JSNA) that is produced for Birmingham. PNAs are necessary to inform commissioners about the potential need for pharmacy-based services in an area

PNAs are a statutory requirement and must be updated at least every 3 years. This document provides an update on Birmingham's three previous PNA's from its predecessor Primary Care Trusts (Birmingham East and North, Heart of Birmingham, South Birmingham), with some updated data included to address inconsistencies in the previous approaches. It includes data from an in-depth assessment of needs for pharmaceutical services in the Birmingham area.

The assessment covers:

- Essential services – must be provided by all providers
- Advanced services – optional nationally commissioned services
- Enhanced services – optional locally commissioned services

In addition, each of the enhanced services is deemed to be either:

- Necessary services – those services that are necessary to meet a current need
- Relevant services – those services that are not deemed to be necessary, but may secure improvements in or access to pharmaceutical services

A requirement of PNAs is that stakeholders must be consulted on the contents of the assessment; in Birmingham we have also undertaken a detailed public consultation exercise to find out people's needs and preferences so that we can ensure the services provided are around local needs.

Birmingham is a city characterised by its rich diversity, with 42% residents being from an ethnic group other than White British, in addition to high levels of deprivation. Approximately 40% of the city's residents live in areas that are amongst the 10% most deprived in the country. The city also has a younger population than England, which inevitably impacts upon underlying health needs. Health needs within the city are not evenly distributed, with the worst outcomes (and greatest need) often concentrated in the most deprived localities. The number of deaths considered potentially preventable in the city is also higher than the England average.

1.2 Access

There are 303 pharmacies in Birmingham, with 27.4 pharmacies per 100,000 population. This is more pharmacies per person than the national median and higher than many comparable cities. There appear to be no gaps in provision of essential services during the core hours of 9am to 6pm.

Provision is reduced in the evenings, however 54 pharmacies in Birmingham are contracted to open for at least 100 hours per week. This provides for good coverage for most of Birmingham.

There is good provision of pharmaceutical services on weekends, with 216 pharmacies opening at some point on Saturday, and 137 open past 5pm. 80 pharmacies open for some time on Sundays.

1.3 Services

The main aspect of the essential services for pharmacies is dispensing of medicines – these are provided by all pharmacies. As there are no gaps in provision of pharmacies in Birmingham, essential services are obtained by population within a reasonable distance.

Advanced services are commissioned on a national basis, and include Medicines/Appliance Use Review (MUR and AUR), and Stoma Appliance Customisation (SAC). Pharmacies are free to choose whether to provide these services. The overwhelming majority of pharmacies provide the MUR service, ensuring good access to this service. These services are considered relevant rather than necessary, therefore further service development is less of a priority.

Enhanced services are commissioned locally, and should address locally specific needs. Each service provided in Birmingham are discussed below:

Minor Ailments Scheme

This service enables trained pharmacists to provide advice and treatment for a specific set of conditions, and potentially frees up other primary care staff such as GPs to focus on chronic and serious conditions. The service aims to:

- Improve patient capability to Self-Care and thereby reduce reliance on medical services as well as other clinical services.
- Improve primary care capacity by reducing medical practice workload related to minor ailments and to ease pressures on their local A&E department and primary care urgent services.
- Promote the role and greater contribution of pharmacies in primary health care.
- Improve working relationships between GPs and Pharmacists.

This is considered a relevant service. The geographical distribution of this service reflects historical commissioning practices of individual Primary Care Trusts, and resulted in some parts of the city having higher provision. The value of this service in these areas should be factored into any commissioning decisions, particularly taking into account the deprivation of the locality being reviewed, and current services provided from other non-pharmaceutical providers.

Stop Smoking Service

This service allows pharmacists to provide advice and medication to assist people to quit smoking. Pharmacies are suitable locations for such a service as they are accessible, often open extended hours, and can provide medications without delay.

Smoking remains one of the largest contributors to avoidable mortality; this service is therefore considered necessary.

Like some of the other enhanced services, non-pharmacy providers (such as GPs) also provide this service in the community. Therefore those areas that are not as heavily served with pharmacies operating Stop Smoking Services (SSS) have access to GPs that provide cessation advice and services. Current service provision is therefore considered to be good. Stop Smoking Services (along with other Lifestyles services) are currently undergoing service review, which may impact pharmacy provision of SSS.

Needle Exchange and Supervised Consumption

Needle exchanges allow injecting drug users to exchange used needles for clean needle replacements, which reduces the risk of needle re-use and the transmission of infectious disease. The supervised consumption service provides access to substitute therapy for people with opiate addiction, directly through pharmacies. Both services are commissioned by Public Health.

These are considered necessary services as pharmacies can be a primary access route for this vulnerable population. Needle exchanges appear to be located appropriately and pharmacies offering supervised consumption appear to be located appropriately. Like some of the other enhanced services, non-pharmacy providers also provide this service in the community, thus giving good coverage across the city. There may be opportunities for existing pharmacies to do more with the current commissioned enhanced services they are providing.

Emergency Hormonal Contraception

Emergency hormonal contraception is available from pharmacies for all women that require it, at a cost of approximately £25. However this service is provided at no cost to 13-21 years olds through this scheme.

Emergency Hormonal Contraception (EHC) is considered to be a necessary service for the city. Again pharmacies are not the only providers of EHC across the city. Commissioners should ensure that provision is sufficient in existing pharmacies located in areas with high conception rates. Overall localities with the highest teenage conception rates in Birmingham have good provision of this service. Sexual health services are currently undergoing review across the city.

Dermatology dispensing

There are 2 community-based dermatology clinics in Birmingham, with 2 pharmacies located nearby that provide specialist dermatology medications. This service is considered a relevant service, and provision is adequate in the city. Should further community-based clinics be commissioned, this service can be developed accordingly.

Advice to care homes

There are 9 pharmacies in Birmingham that provide a quarterly visit to named residential or nursing homes. Pharmacists are able to review the administration, use, storage and appropriateness of medications and appliances for residents of each care home.

This service is a relevant service, although there may be opportunities to develop further in across the northern and southern parts of the city. Therefore, there is scope to introduce this service for other care homes should commissioners see a local need and there are existing pharmacies willing to provide it.

Palliative care medications

Pharmacies are contracted to stock pre-defined specialist palliative care medications. These pharmacies should ideally be open 7 days a week to allow greatest access for patients and relatives of patients being treated palliatively.

In addition, a number of existing non-pharmacy services have been commissioned historically in primary care, secondary and community health care, and also with hospices and third sector providers. A new strategy is currently out for consultation and sets out plans for an integrated palliative and end of life care system across Birmingham¹. Service review is currently underway in order to ensure service provision can meet need.

1.4 Conclusion

This PNA concludes that Birmingham residents have good access to a range of pharmaceutical services, which are appropriately distributed across the city. Pharmacies in Birmingham provide a range of locally commissioned services that are appropriate to the population. There is no need for new pharmacies in Birmingham.

Whilst this report presents pharmaceutical provision, a range of providers may be involved in delivering these services to patients. Therefore, further development or expansion of services should be addressed to best meet the needs of patients using all providers – not just community pharmacies.

Using the PNA, the commissioners of each enhanced service may determine where each need may be met by pharmacies in Birmingham, and commission services accordingly. Where further or new enhanced services are being commissioned these should be done across existing pharmacies

1.5 Recommendations

1. That currently there are sufficient pharmaceutical services to meet the needs of the population.

For Commissioners

2. To ensure pharmacy provision is equitable across the city, with services being relevant to key issues in each ward.

1. For commissioners of statutory and locally defined services to work with pharmacies to increase awareness of pharmacy services. This would help services to be used more effectively and contribute to the improvement of the health of the local population.

¹ Draft Integrated Palliative and End of Life Care Commissioning Strategy for Birmingham (2014/15 – 2017/18). Birmingham Cross City and South Central CCGs. NHS.

2. To plan pharmaceutical services for projected demographic changes, for example the expected increase in young (under 15 years) and a growing elderly population (see Section 4.1.8)

- Service provision should also be reviewed in the event of new housing developments and new estates.
- Monitoring of cross-border dispensing

5. To ensure pharmacy services are in-line with wider service reviews and strategies across the city.

For the Health and Wellbeing Board:

3. To ensure there are systems in place to monitor potential changes that will affect the delivery of pharmaceutical services and have a process in place to decide whether the changes are significant and hence what action it needs to take.

For Pharmacists

4. To ensure patients are aware of services that may improve access to services, such as language services.

2. INTRODUCTION

2.1 Birmingham Health & Wellbeing Board

The Birmingham Health and Wellbeing Board (BHWB)² became a statutory body on 1st April 2013, as one of the requirements of the Health and Social Care Act 2012. To discharge the functions of the Board as set out in the Act, the Board will:

- Promote the reduction of health inequalities across the city
- Assess the needs of the Birmingham population through the Joint Strategic Health Assessment (JSNA) process
- Develop the Birmingham Joint Health and Wellbeing Strategy³
- Identify opportunities for effective joint commissioning arrangements, integrated provision and pooled budget arrangements
- Provide a forum to promote greater service integration across health and social care

Amongst these responsibilities, the Health and Social Care Act 2012 makes explicit the duty for Local Authorities, through Health and Wellbeing Boards (HWBs), to produce a Pharmaceutical Needs Assessment (PNA) for their population⁴. The pharmaceutical regulations coming into force on 1 April 2013 give a deadline of 1 April 2015 for Health and Wellbeing Boards to produce a new PNA⁵.

2.2 Pharmaceutical Needs Assessment

A PNA is defined in the regulations as:

“The statement of the needs for pharmaceutical services [in its area] which each Primary Care Trust [Health and Wellbeing Board] is required to publish”³.

The PNA is the key document that informs both the public and professionals about the need for pharmaceutical services in a specified area. It is a statutory document that must be produced, as per The Health Act 2009 regulations⁶, and updated at a minimum of every 3 years.

The purpose of the PNA is twofold:

5. Provide high quality information for the commissioning of appropriate services through pharmaceutical providers in Birmingham
6. Provide information to assist decision-makers regarding the market entry of new pharmaceutical providers within Birmingham

This PNA considers pharmaceutical services as any services delivered through pharmacies, dispensing doctors, or appliance contractors that are commissioned on a national or local basis – these are detailed in Section 3.

The JSNA is the process that shows the health needs of the people of Birmingham. Locally, this has been produced as a 'live' document, i.e. the JSNA should be constantly updated to try and reflect current and not historical need. The aim of this Overview is to map the overall needs of the population with services that can be delivered through pharmaceutical providers.

As a single point of reference regarding pharmaceutical services in Birmingham, PNAs should be as comprehensive as possible in providing appropriate information to the public and professionals alike. The context for this PNA is given in the next section.

3. CONTEXT FOR THE BIRMINGHAM PNA

3.1 The evolution of PNAs

PNAs have developed as a result of a change of government strategy regarding the nature of pharmaceutical services during the past decade. The White Paper 'A vision for pharmacy in the New NHS (2003)'⁷ set out proposals that pharmacies could provide services that had traditionally been delivered in general practice (GP) surgeries, including medication review and patient monitoring.

PNAs were developed in 2005 to assist Primary Care Trusts (PCTs) in determining the need for new pharmacies ('market entry'), though PNAs were not a statutory requirement for this. The publication of 'Pharmacy in England: building on strengths – delivering the future'⁸ demonstrated the requirement of PNAs to be produced in a rigorous and robust manner in order to assist with commissioning decisions. This was made into law with the Health Act 2009, with the requirement for each PCT to produce a PNA by 1 February 2011.

In order to ensure some uniformity between PNAs, some minimum requirements were set out in the guidance⁵. These were, broadly:

- Assessment of local needs
- Necessary services – current provision
- Dispensing services
- Other relevant services
- Necessary services: gaps in provision
- Improvements and better access
- Maps
- Exempt applications [for market entry]

This document maps out the provision and need across the city as a whole.

3.2 Circumstances in which the PNA should be revised or updated

The Department of Health (DH) guidance states a duty on Health & Wellbeing Boards (HWB) that the PNA should be reviewed at least every 3 years. There is a statutory requirement for PNA's to be published by 1 April 2015.

3.3 Scope of the PNA

Pharmaceutical services are defined by reference to the regulations and directions governing pharmaceutical services provided by community pharmacies – which may be Local Pharmaceutical Service (LPS) providers – dispensing doctors and appliance contractors. We must understand what is meant by the term “pharmaceutical services” in order to assess the need for such services in the Health and Wellbeing Board’s area (described below).

Whether a service falls within the scope of pharmaceutical services for the purposes of PNA depends on who the provider is and what is provided:

- For dispensing practices the scope of the service to be assessed in a PNA is the dispensing service. This means that, for the purposes of a PNA, commissioners are concerned with whether patients have adequate access to dispensing services, including where those services are provided by dispensing GPs but not concerned with assessing the need for other services dispensing GPs may provide as part of their national or local contractual arrangements. There are no dispensing practices in Birmingham at this time, and patients registered with Birmingham GPs may not access dispensing services from GPs outside our area.
- For appliance contractors the scope of the service to be assessed in a PNA is the dispensing of appliances and the provision of the Appliance Use Review (AUR) Service and Stoma Appliance Customisation Service (SAC). This means that, for the purposes of a PNA, commissioners are concerned with whether patients have adequate access to dispensing services, including dispensing of appliances, AURs and SACs where these are undertaken by an appliance contractor but not concerned with other services appliance contractors may provide. There are 2 appliance contractors in Birmingham (see Appendix 5)
- For community pharmacy contractors the scope of the services to be assessed in a PNA is broad and comprehensive. It includes the essential, advanced and enhanced services elements of the pharmacy contract whether provided under the terms of service⁹ for pharmaceutical contractors or under LPS contracts.

Pharmaceutical services in relation to community pharmacy contractors are defined as:

- Essential Services – which are set out in the 2005 NHS Regulations and include:
 - Dispensing and actions associated with dispensing (e.g. keeping records)
 - Repeatable dispensing
 - Disposal of waste medicines
 - Promotion of healthy lifestyles, including Public Health campaigns
 - Signposting
 - Support for self-care

All contractors must provide the full range of essential services.

⁹ Pharmacy contractors do not have a contract in the legal sense with NHS England; they operate under terms of service set out in regulations. These are often referred to as the “community pharmacy contract”.

- Advanced and Enhanced Services – which are set out in the Directions made subsequent to the 2005 Regulations, these include:
 - Advanced Services, specifically:
 - Medicines Use Review and Prescription Intervention Service (MUR/PIS)
 - Appliance Use Reviews (AUR)
 - Stoma Appliance Customisation Service (SAC)

Any contractor may choose to provide these services, subject to meeting specified criteria and must notify NHS England of their intention to do so. At this time a pharmacy may undertake up to 400 MURs per annum, a limited number of AURs linked to the dispensing of appliances and as many SACs as required
 - Enhanced Services, specifically:
 - Anticoagulant monitoring service
 - Care home service
 - Disease specific medicines management service
 - Gluten free food supply service
 - Independent prescribing service
 - Home delivery service
 - Language access service
 - Medication review service
 - Medicines assessment and compliance support service
 - Minor ailments scheme
 - Needle syringe exchange service
 - On demand availability of specialist drugs service
 - Out of hours service
 - Patient group direction service
 - Prescriber support service
 - Schools service
 - Screening service
 - Stop smoking service
 - Supervised administration service
 - Supplementary prescribing service

The regulations are intended to be permissive and allow decisions as to which and how many Enhanced services are commissioned to be subject to local interpretation; including the scope and method of delivery. Table 1 shows which Enhanced Services are in operation from community pharmacies in Birmingham.

Table 1 – Local Enhanced Services delivered through community pharmacies in Birmingham

Service	Description
Emergency Hormonal Contraception (EHC)	Pharmacists provide EHC to women without the need for a prescription
Minor Ailment Scheme (MAS)	Pharmacists provide advice and appropriate medications for a range of pre-defined minor ailments, without need for prescription
Smoking cessation	Pharmacies provide advice and counselling, as well as nicotine replacement therapy (NRT) to those wishing to quit
Needle exchange	Pharmacies provide clean injecting equipment to injecting drug users (IDUs) and dispose of used equipment safely
Supervised consumption	Pharmacists directly observe replacement therapy for IDUs with a valid prescription
Palliative care medications	Pharmacies provide an extended range of medicines that are potentially of use to patients receiving palliative treatment
Dermatology dispensing	People with long term skin conditions that attend community dermatology clinics can access appropriate medications nearby
Advice to care homes	Pharmacists visit assigned care homes on a quarterly basis to review administration and storage of medicines and appliances

Each of the enhanced services is deemed to be either:

- Necessary services – those services that are necessary to meet a current need
- Relevant services – those services that are not deemed to be necessary, but may secure improvements in or access to pharmaceutical services

This PNA takes account of services provided to the Birmingham population which may affect the need for pharmaceutical services; this can include any services delivered by neighbouring areas to our population.

3.4 What is excluded from the scope of the overview?

3.4.1 Prison pharmacy

Birmingham has a single prison (HM Prison Birmingham), whose pharmacy is commissioned by the NHS England Area team, this service falls outside the scope of the PNA.

3.4.2 Hospital pharmacy

There are a number of secondary (and tertiary) providers of health care in Birmingham. The pharmacy provision for the patients seen in these establishments does not fall within the scope of the PNA, though integrated care between secondary and primary providers is important for patients moving from one provider to another.

3.5 The PNA development process

3.5.1 Steering Group

Birmingham Public Health, on behalf of the BHWB, set up a multidisciplinary Steering Group to oversee the development of a new PNA. The membership and Terms of Reference are shown in Appendix 1. Representatives from the BHWB, Public Health, NHS England, CCGs, the Local Pharmaceutical Committee (LPC), the Pharmacy Local Professional Network, Healthwatch Birmingham and pharmacy contracting were involved. The Steering Group had responsibilities in delivering the PNA for approval by the BHWB, to assist with commissioning decisions from April 2015.

3.5.2 Stages of development

3.6 Data for Birmingham

Much of the data, particularly regarding the health of the city, has been collected and published previously, in the form of ward profiles, the JSNA and its in-depth needs analyses, and national datasets. Local data in particular, however, is well placed to show where within the city health needs are greatest. The PNA regulations require geographically defined boundaries to allow comparison of need and utilisation of services. The use of electoral wards was chosen as the unit of geography as they are:

- geographically defined
- have stable boundaries
- tend to be uniform in distribution of the population

The 40 electoral wards are also amalgamated into 10 larger areas called 'districts', which are consistent with current Parliamentary Constituencies. Table 3 shows the 40 wards and corresponding 10 districts for Birmingham. Figure 2 shows the geographic layout of each of the 40 wards in Birmingham alongside neighbouring local authorities.

3.7 Process of engagement and consultation

To inform the Birmingham Pharmaceutical Needs Assessment a series of engagement and consultative processes were undertaken:

Engagement

- A period of public consultation, comprising a web-based questionnaire on needs and preferences (Appendix 2).
- A questionnaire was sent to each of the pharmacies in the city and an electronic version was made available on-line.

Consultation

- The findings from the engagement were incorporated into the draft PNA. This report then went out for formal consultation for the statutory 60 day period.

4. BIRMINGHAM IN CONTEXT

4.1 Birmingham City Council population

4.1.1 Overview

Birmingham is the second largest city in the UK, and, by population, the largest Local Authority in Europe¹⁰. According to the 2012 mid-year population estimates, approximately 1,085,400 people live in the city, which is an increase of almost 100,000 people (10.2%) since the 2001 census.¹¹ The number of people registered with a GP based in Birmingham (up to quarter 1 of 2014) was 1.166m people¹².

The table in Appendix 3 contains details regarding the population in this section, by ward. However, it is important to note that some overall data for the city in this section has been drawn from recent Office for National Statistics (ONS) census publications, whereas some data broken down to ward level in Appendix 3 utilises slightly older data from other sources.

4.1.2 Age

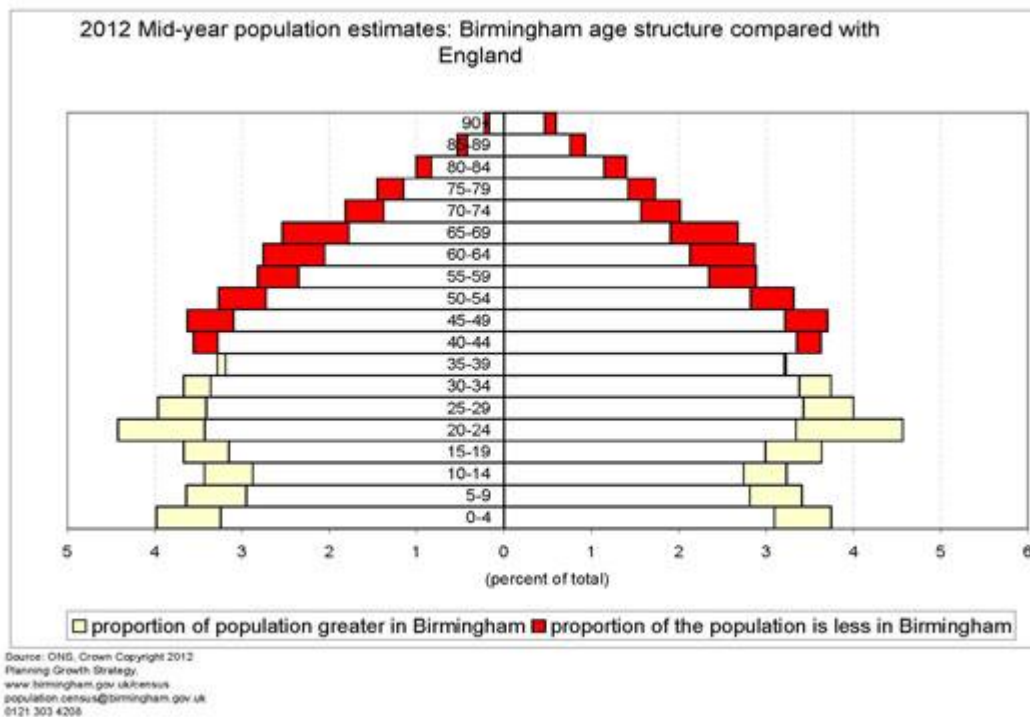

Birmingham has a younger age profile compared to England overall, as shown in Figure 3. This difference can be explained by the higher birth rate, people having children at a younger age than the England average, fewer deaths and international migration. There is also a net influx of young adults aged 18-25 into the city, partly due to the large universities located in Birmingham. The data in Appendix 3 suggests that the city has an older population profile in the northern and southern parts of the city, with a younger profile in the centre.

4.1.3 Ethnicity

Birmingham is an ethnically and culturally diverse city, with most recent data from the 2011 census suggesting that 42% of residents are from an ethnic group other than White British¹³. This is markedly different to England overall, which is approximately 85.5% White. The largest ethnic minority groups in Birmingham were Pakistani (14%), Indian (6.0%), and Black Caribbean (4%), though there are many other ethnicities in the city (Figure 4).

Geographically, the distribution of ethnic minorities across the city is not uniform, with the centre and surrounding wards are populated much more heavily by black and minority ethnic groups than the northern and southern parts of Birmingham (see Appendix 3). Pharmacies in the city should employ methods shown to be effective when engaging with various communities in each of their local areas, in order to provide a good service to all patients. This may be of particular importance for areas of greatest diversity, where health needs can differ between groups.

4.1.4 Deprivation

Deprivation in this assessment is taken to mean socio-economic deprivation, which is summarised in England using the Indices of Multiple Deprivation score (2010). This score system, published by the Department of Communities and Local Government (DCLG) incorporates the domains of income, employment, health, education and skills, barriers to housing, crime, and the living environment. Using this system, Birmingham is ranked as the 9th most deprived Local Authority in England, out of 326¹⁴.

Deprivation across the city is not uniformly distributed, however, with pockets of affluence in the north and parts of the centre of the city (Figure 5). However, the majority of the city is more deprived than the England average, with fewer than 60% of the population living in areas ranked in the bottom quintile (20%) of the country. These pockets of deprivation are particularly concentrated around the centre of the city, where the population is younger and more ethnically diverse.

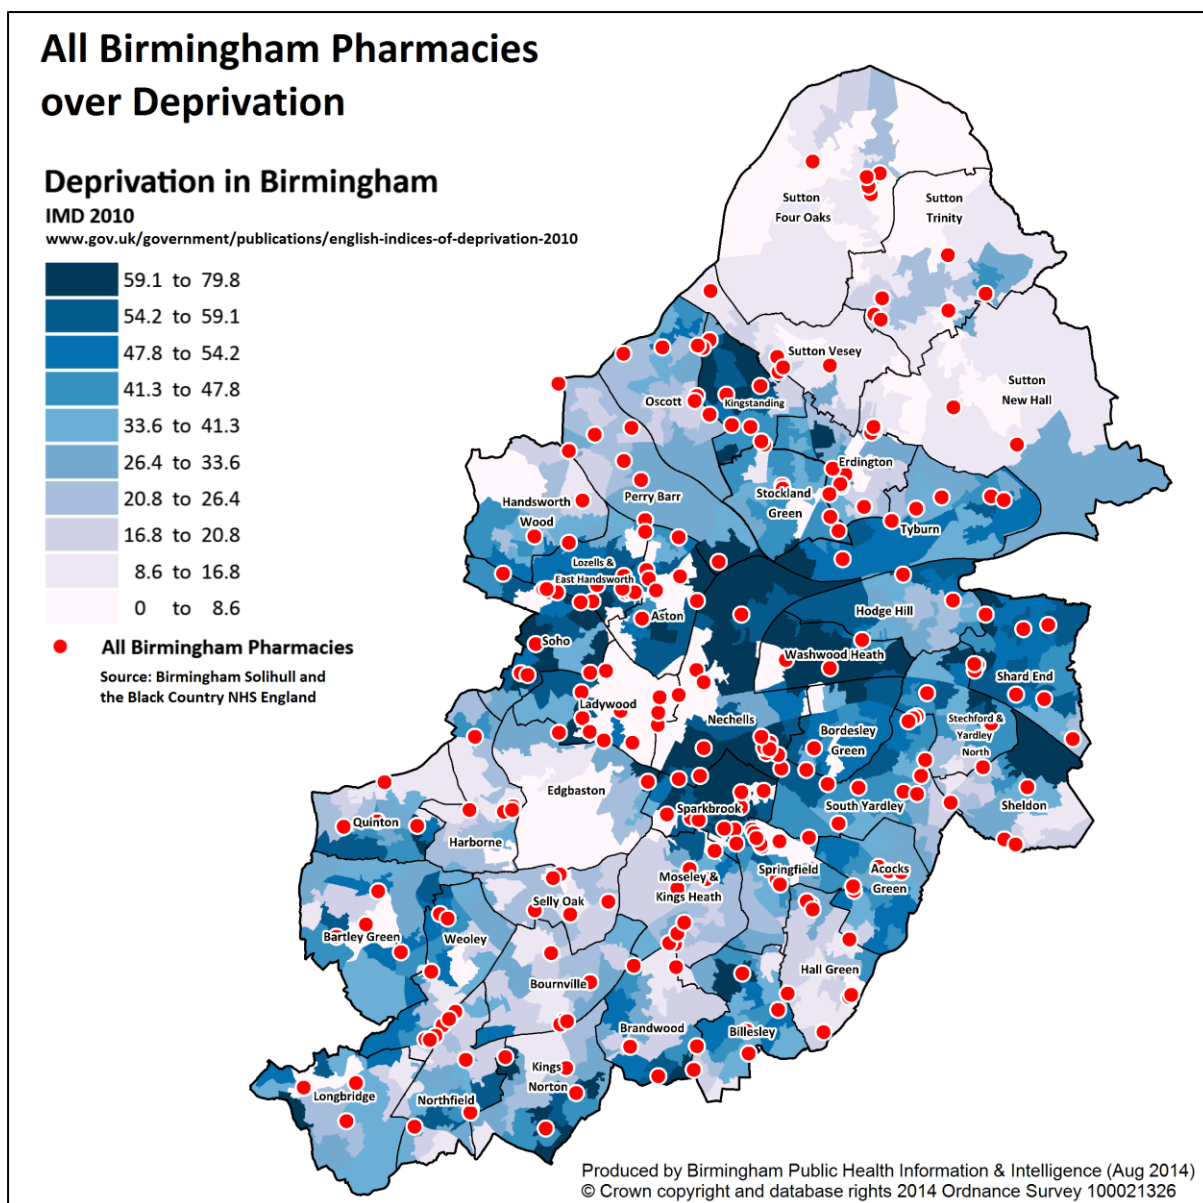

Deprivation is broken down to a Lower Super Output Area (LSOA) level; this is a small geographical area (usually of between 1000 and 3000 residents) that allows us to look in a high level of detail at the needs of the city¹⁵. The close links between deprivation and poorer health outcomes, at a population level, have been well established; and the influence of individual level behavioural and socio-economic factors (e.g. income, education, occupation and social class) and health inequalities have been studied extensively. Lifestyle factors are discussed in section 4.2.

4.1.5 Disability

The Equalities Act 2010 legislates against direct discrimination against any person for the supply of goods or services, employment, and other such matters. Pharmacies are required to make reasonable provisions to accommodate any person with disability both on their premises and in terms of service, for example wheelchair access and ramps. Provision of disabled-friendly services (wheelchair accessible consulting rooms, provision for those with visual or hearing difficulties, etc.) should be considered an important aspect of good service provision where possible.

4.1.6 Religion or belief

The latest census 2011 data suggests Christianity remains the most prevalent religion in Birmingham (46.1%), and just over a fifth of residents identifying themselves as Muslim (21.9%)¹³. The city has a range of belief systems, which partly reflects ethnic diversity. Figure 6 shows the census data for Birmingham.

The provision of pharmacy services should not be impacted upon by the belief systems of staff or potential service users. Pharmacists that find the provision of services is at odds with their own personal or moral code can choose not to provide that service; they must, however, inform the patient of alternative providers that can cater for their needs.

4.1.7 Language

2011 census data suggests that for people aged 16 and older, 82.1% of households in Birmingham speak English as a main language, with a further 8.5% of households having at least one member that speaks English¹³. 7.5% of households contain no person aged 16 or over that can speak English as a main language, which is considerably higher than regional and national figures (Table 4).

For some patients, language may be a potential barrier to accessing any services, including pharmacy. In order to provide equitable access, it is important that pharmacies are able to cater for the whole population, regardless of background or language. There is provision for interpreters to facilitate consultations and interactions with health care providers, though this service may not be utilised at pharmacists as much as medical practitioners. Consideration should be given to how service users may be informed of this service.

4.1.8 Population forecasts

Birmingham has a very dynamic population, partly due to it having a younger population than England, and its high proportion of people from ethnic minorities. Population forecasts published in 2007 suggested ethnic minorities in Birmingham would continue growing in comparison to the White population up to at least 2026¹⁶. The city will remain young with the proportion of children rising, although the proportion of people living past their 85th birthday will also increase substantially¹⁷. This may have an impact on future pharmaceutical services and should be taken into account when producing future PNAs.

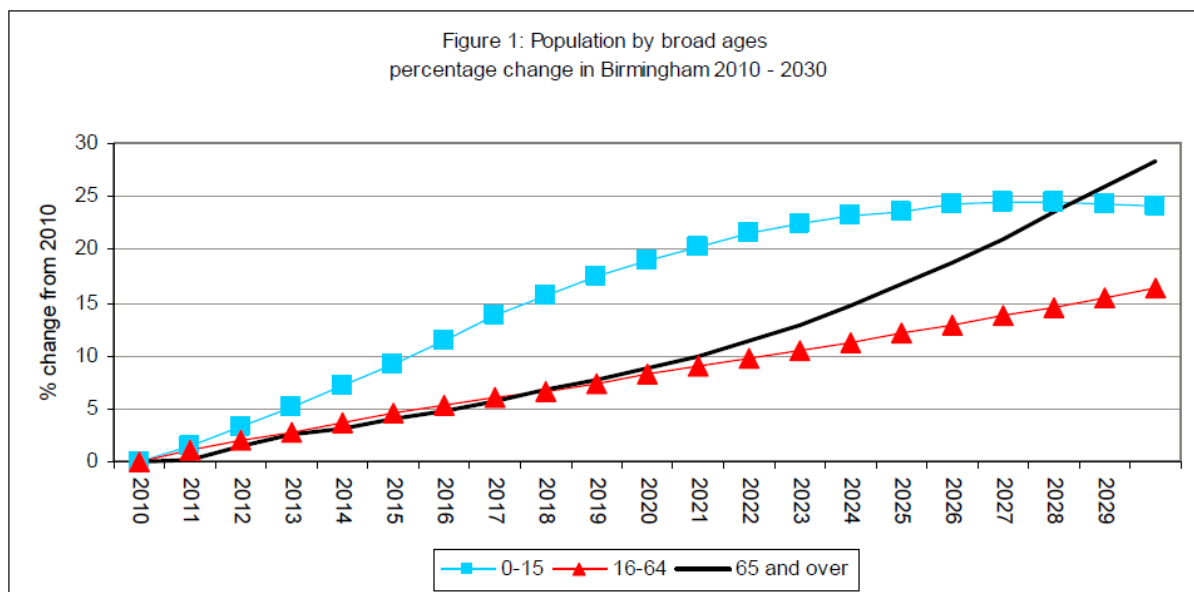

Figure 7 shows the trajectories of change in age groups between 2010 and 2029. The child population is projected to increase rapidly up to 2025 and more slowly thereafter. The population aged 65 and older grows at a relatively steady pace up to 2022 when growth becomes more rapid. Overall Birmingham's population is expected to grow by 19.6%, compared with England's 15.7%.¹⁸

4.2 Lifestyle and health

4.2.1 Tobacco use

Tobacco use is the leading cause of preventable mortality worldwide¹⁹. In both the UK and Birmingham, smoking prevalence has fallen in the past decade, which may have been aided by public health campaigns and public health legislation. The most recent data shows that approximately 1 in 5 of the Birmingham population smoke²⁰ (19.3%), with prevalence likely to be higher in those living in more deprived areas.

Prevention of smoking can particularly have health benefits on cardiovascular, respiratory, and neurological systems (for example preventing dementia). Despite the successes of tobacco control in the past decade, continued efforts are needed to try and ensure the population of Birmingham ceases to have a higher smoking prevalence (and associated poorer outcomes) compared to England overall.

Pharmacies are well placed to assist people in attempting to stop smoking; more information is available in section 5.8.2.

4.2.3 Exercise and obesity

Exercise is one of many health and social factors that affects obesity. Whilst recognising there are complex reasons that some people are obese or overweight, exercise is seen as a key component that is amenable to change. In Birmingham, approximately 26% of males and 28% of females are overweight or obese²¹, which compares unfavourably to England overall. The map in Appendix 2 shows that obesity appears to be most prevalent in the southern and central deprived wards of Birmingham.

¹⁹ Peto R, et al (1996). Mortality from smoking worldwide. British Medical Bulletin. 1996;52(1):12-21 <http://bmb.oxfordjournals.org/content/52/1/12.full.pdf+html> [accessed 05/03/2012]

Obesity is important as a health status as it is strongly linked to risk of developing coronary heart disease and diabetes, both of which are major diseases that impact on the health and wellbeing of the population. Pharmacies are well placed, along with other primary care providers such as GPs, in providing advice on healthy living, including exercise and diet, to the population.

4.2.4 Sexual health and teenage pregnancy

Over the last five years, the number of STIs diagnosed has risen by nearly 30% in Birmingham and in 2012 8,820 new STIs were diagnosed. The city also has the second largest concentration of people living with HIV (outside London). Of these, 50% had a late diagnosis, leading to avoidable ill health and potential transmission.

Birmingham also has one of the higher Chlamydia infection diagnosis rates in the region for those aged 15-24. This may indicate poor sexual health practice amongst the population, particularly the younger population. The crude pregnancy rate for 15-17 year old females (47.4 per 1000) is also high compared to England (38.1 per 1000)²².

Those disproportionately affected by sexual-ill health include young people, black minority ethnic communities and men who have sex with men (MSM). Pharmacies are well placed to help prevent and reduce both teenage pregnancies and STIs, through provision of contraception and advice as necessary. The EHC pill is also dispensed from some pharmacies and provided free of charge to women aged 13-21 years (inclusive). This is discussed in section 5.8.5.

4.2.5 Hospital admissions and Long Term Conditions

There is variation across Birmingham in the rate of hospital admissions. Some wards, particularly those with older or more deprived age profiles, have higher admissions rates for long term conditions. The all-cause mortality premature death rate (<75 years) (see Figure 8 – Deaths under 75 from all causes (SMRs using national data)) also correlates strongly with more deprived, diversely ethnic wards (seen in Figure 5). The role of Long Term Conditions (LTCs) on premature mortality is likely to be significant.

Long Term Conditions (LTCs) that have a notable impact on health in Birmingham are Coronary Heart Disease (CHD), Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD), diabetes mellitus, and stroke. Table 5 shows that the QOF prevalence of CHD, COPD and stroke are below the national average but diabetes prevalence is higher than the England average (6%) with the highest proportion in Sandwell and West CCG (8.3%). Improving the outcomes of people with these conditions would help reduce premature mortality in Birmingham.

The cause specific mortality rate for preventable cardiovascular, preventable respiratory, preventable cancer, preventable liver diseases are all markedly higher than the England average (see Table 6)²⁰.

Preventable sight loss from diabetic eye disease	2012/13	3.8	3.5

(Source: Public Health Outcomes Framework as dated above, www.phoutcomes.info²⁰)

Disease registers that are used nationally suggest that Birmingham has a lower prevalence rate of some of these chronic diseases compared to the England average²³; however this may be associated with the younger age distribution in the city, as discussed earlier. The prevalence of diabetes however appears to be significantly higher than the England average, and may reflect increased proportion of people with risk factors, such as being overweight or obese or being of South Asian, Black African or African-Caribbean origin²⁴. Type-2 diabetes is up to 6 times more common in people of South Asian descent, and risk begins from the age of 25 years, as opposed to 40 years in the White population²⁵. However, it is important to note that QOF figures are likely to be an underestimate, as there exists an undiagnosed cohort of patients therefore.

Maps showing emergency admission rates for various conditions in Birmingham can be seen in Appendix 2.

Data from the census shows that just over 115,000 households (28% of Birmingham households) reported having at least one occupant with any long term health problem or disability¹³, which is higher than England overall (25.7%). Pharmacies can play a very significant role for people with LTCs, as many people with them require medications or appliances that only pharmacies can dispense. Pharmacies can ensure that patients are adherent to therapy and that medications are taken appropriately through services such as the Medicines Use Review (MUR).

As well as LTCs, acute or minor illnesses can also be treated by pharmacies through the Minor Ailment Scheme service (see section 5.8.1). This service has undergone some changes and a new service specification released in October 2014.

Pharmacies, as part of their core contract, give general advice and guidance to people regarding maintenance and improvement of health, which is also associated with the national 'Making Every Contact Count' programme.

4.3 Birmingham's strategic plan to improve health and wellbeing

The Birmingham Health and Wellbeing Board (HWB) has agreed a Health and Wellbeing Strategy which outlines its vision to improve the health and wellbeing of its most vulnerable citizens in the City.

The three key aims of the strategy are to:

- Improve the health and wellbeing of our most vulnerable adults and children in need
- Improve the resilience of our care system; and
- Improve the health and wellbeing of our children

Vulnerable adults are defined as any person aged 18 or older that may need community services or are unable to protect them self from significant harm or exploitation²⁶. This group includes the homeless, and those with major drug dependency. Pharmacies are well placed to deliver appropriate drug treatment and harm reduction programmes for this population. Older people in care homes may also be vulnerable owing to physical or mental frailty, and pharmacists assisting by giving advice to care homes (see section 5.8.7).

The resilience of the local health care system can be increased through pharmacy. As pharmacies are able to provide health care and advice can help ensure the public receive appropriate care without requiring more intensive resources such as GPs or A&E visits. The role of the pharmacist either as a point of care or to signpost people to the most appropriate service is an important service in the community; and even more so when other health providers are not available, such as weekends and evenings.

It is important to note that pharmacies can play a general role in maintaining and improving the health and wellbeing of the population, and that these need not be directly related to the key aims of Birmingham's strategy. However, where a key aim can be met by pharmacies, this will be discussed in section 5.

5. CURRENT PROVISION AND ASSESSMENT

5.1 Services to be assessed

This is detailed in section 3.3.

5.2 General current provision

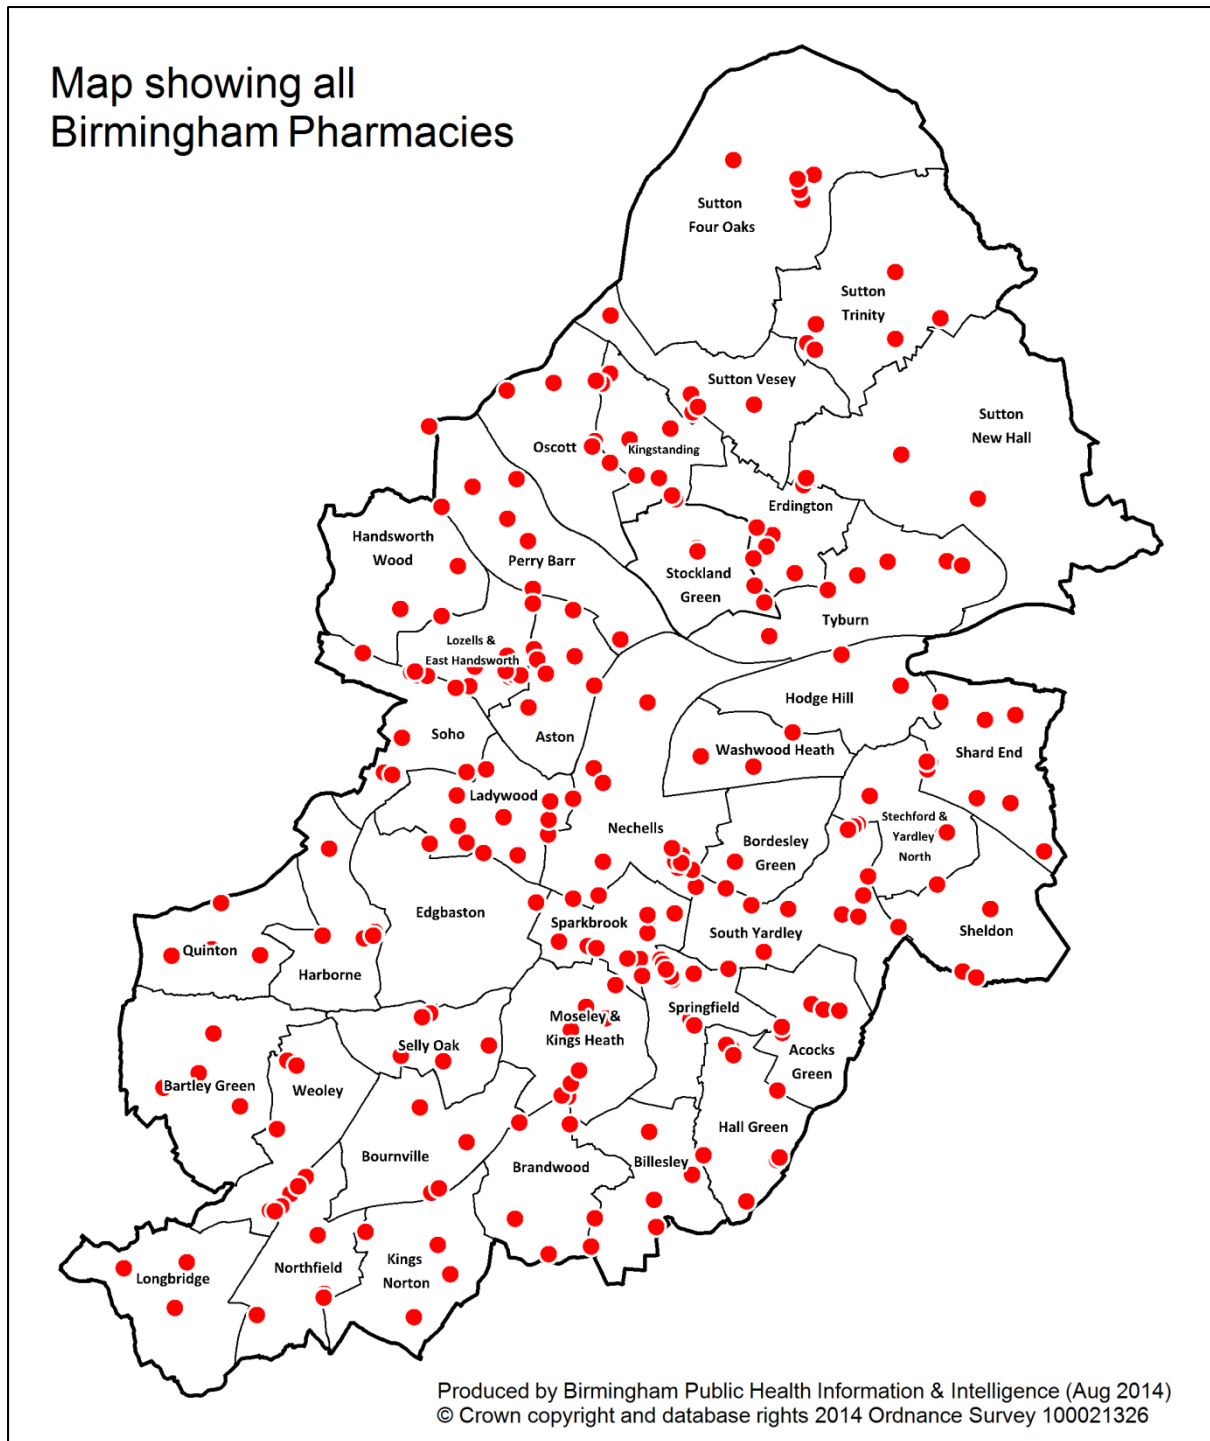

All community pharmacies are required to provide essential services. There are 303 pharmacies located in the city, though they are not distributed evenly. Some pharmacies are open for longer periods of time, for instance evenings, overnight and weekends, with some pharmacies in the city specifically contracted to be open for at least 100 hours per week. Figure 9 shows the location of all pharmacies in the city.

Figure 10 shows all pharmacies that serve a very local catchment, within 400m or a 10 minute walk. This illustrates the proximity of pharmacies for the population and indicates physical access to pharmacy services across the city is good

Conclusion for pharmacy distribution

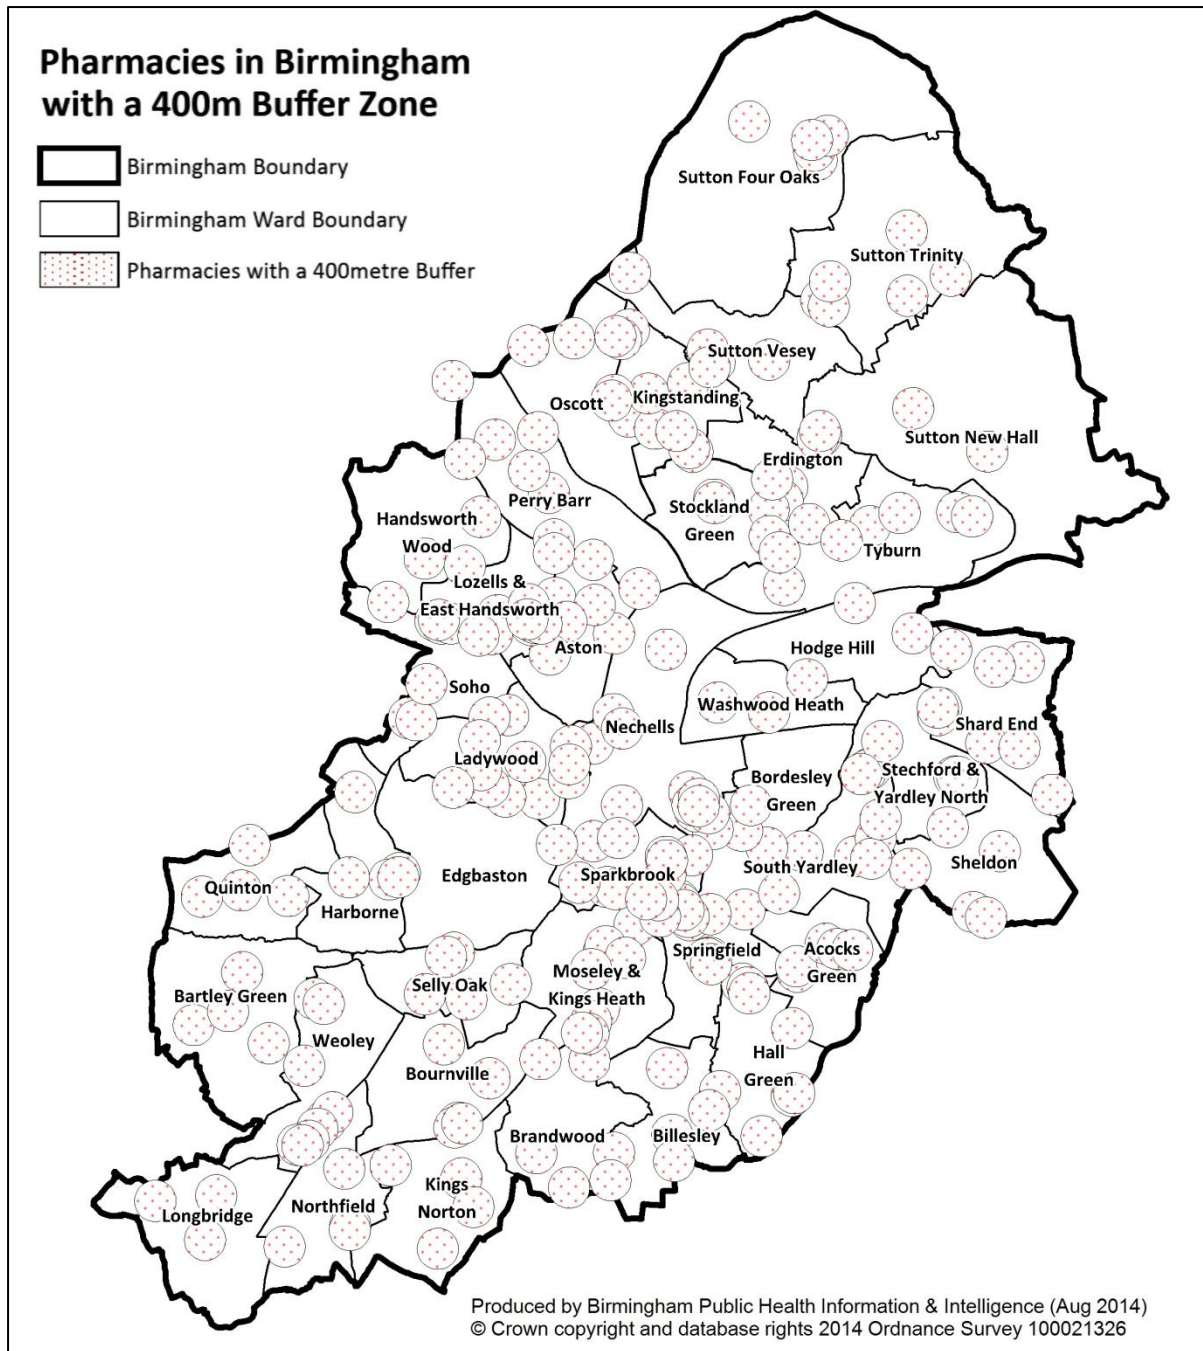

The data in this section suggest that overall, there are no gaps in the geographical provision of pharmaceutical services in Birmingham. The city appears to have an adequate number of pharmacies for the population.

Source: Data provided by Birmingham, Solihull and the Black Country NHS England, August 2014

Source: Data provided by Birmingham, Solihull and the Black Country NHS England, August 2014

The provision of pharmacies appears to be good for all wards in Birmingham. However, Sutton Four Oaks, Sutton New Hall, and Edgbaston appear to have less provision but on further examination these can be explained:

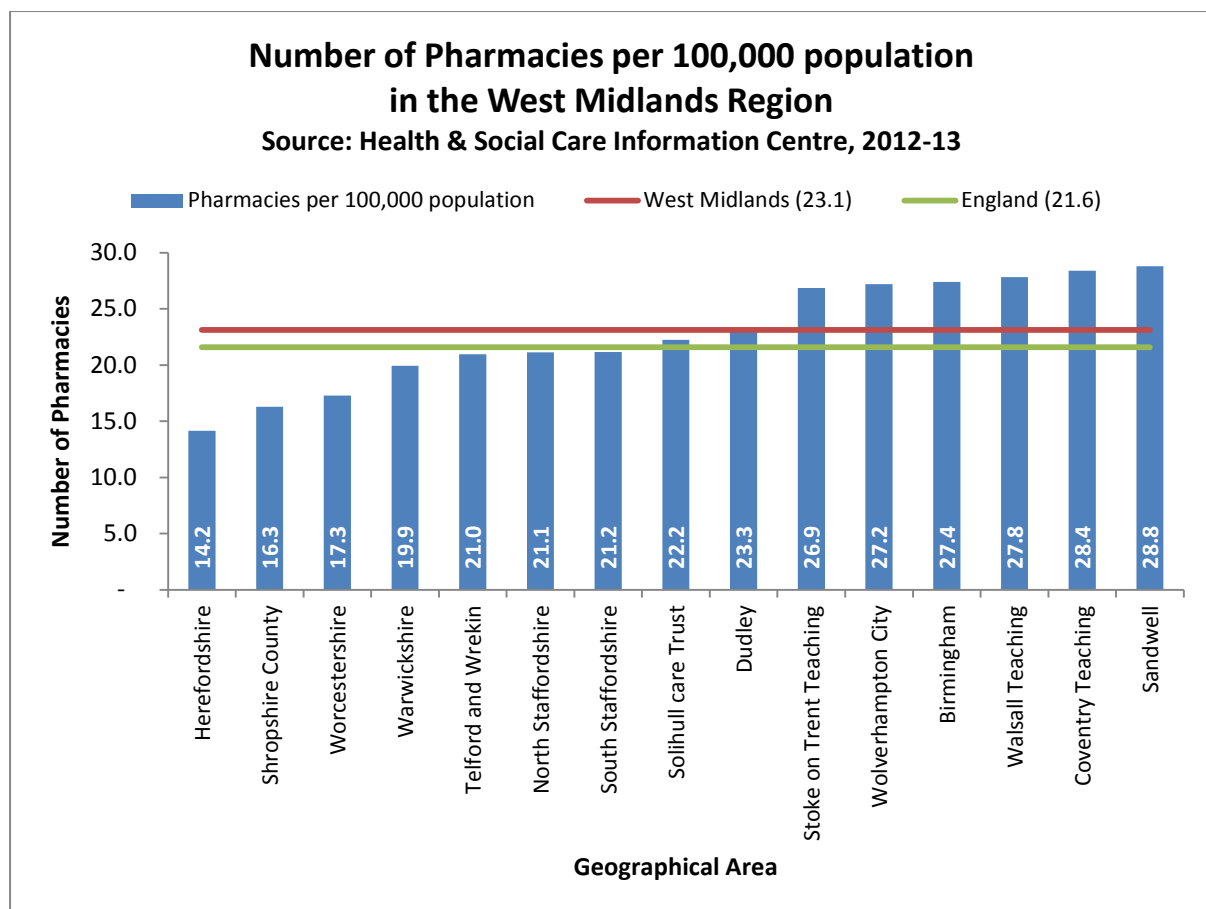

- Sutton Four Oaks contains a large park area with very few residential properties in the western and southern part of the ward. The density of residential streets is also low in the northern part of the ward, north of the B4151 (Mere Green Road & Slade Road).
- Sutton New Hall has a low density of housing and residential roads compared to the rest of Birmingham, particularly in the eastern part of the ward.
- Edgbaston is home to a major hospital, major university, and student accommodation. It is also one of the most affluent suburbs in Birmingham, with few commercial centres. There are pharmacies on the border of Edgbaston with Selly Oak, Harborne, Ladywood, and Sparkbrook.

It is clear from the map that the concentration of pharmacies is greatest in the central part of Birmingham, which is unsurprising. These are also the wards with greatest deprivation and greatest ethnic diversity.

The number of pharmacies in the city as a whole can be compared to national averages. A simple way to show this is to calculate the number of pharmacies per 100,000 population. Figure 11 shows how Birmingham compares with other areas in the West Midlands²⁷.

²⁷ NHS Information Centre. General Pharmaceutical Services in England 2002-2003 to 2011-12, PCT level appendix. <http://www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/pharmserv1112> [accessed 04/12/2012]

Birmingham appears to have more pharmacies per capita than most other areas in the West Midlands, and has more than the median. Figure 11 also shows that urbanised areas appear to have more pharmacies per capita than rural areas. When compared to the other ‘Core Cities’²⁸, Birmingham again has a higher number of pharmacies per 100,000 population than six of these cities (Figure 12).

²⁸ Birmingham, Bristol, Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle, Nottingham, Sheffield

Figure 12 – Number of pharmacies per 100,000 population in the 8 English 'Core Cities'

5.3 Opening Hours

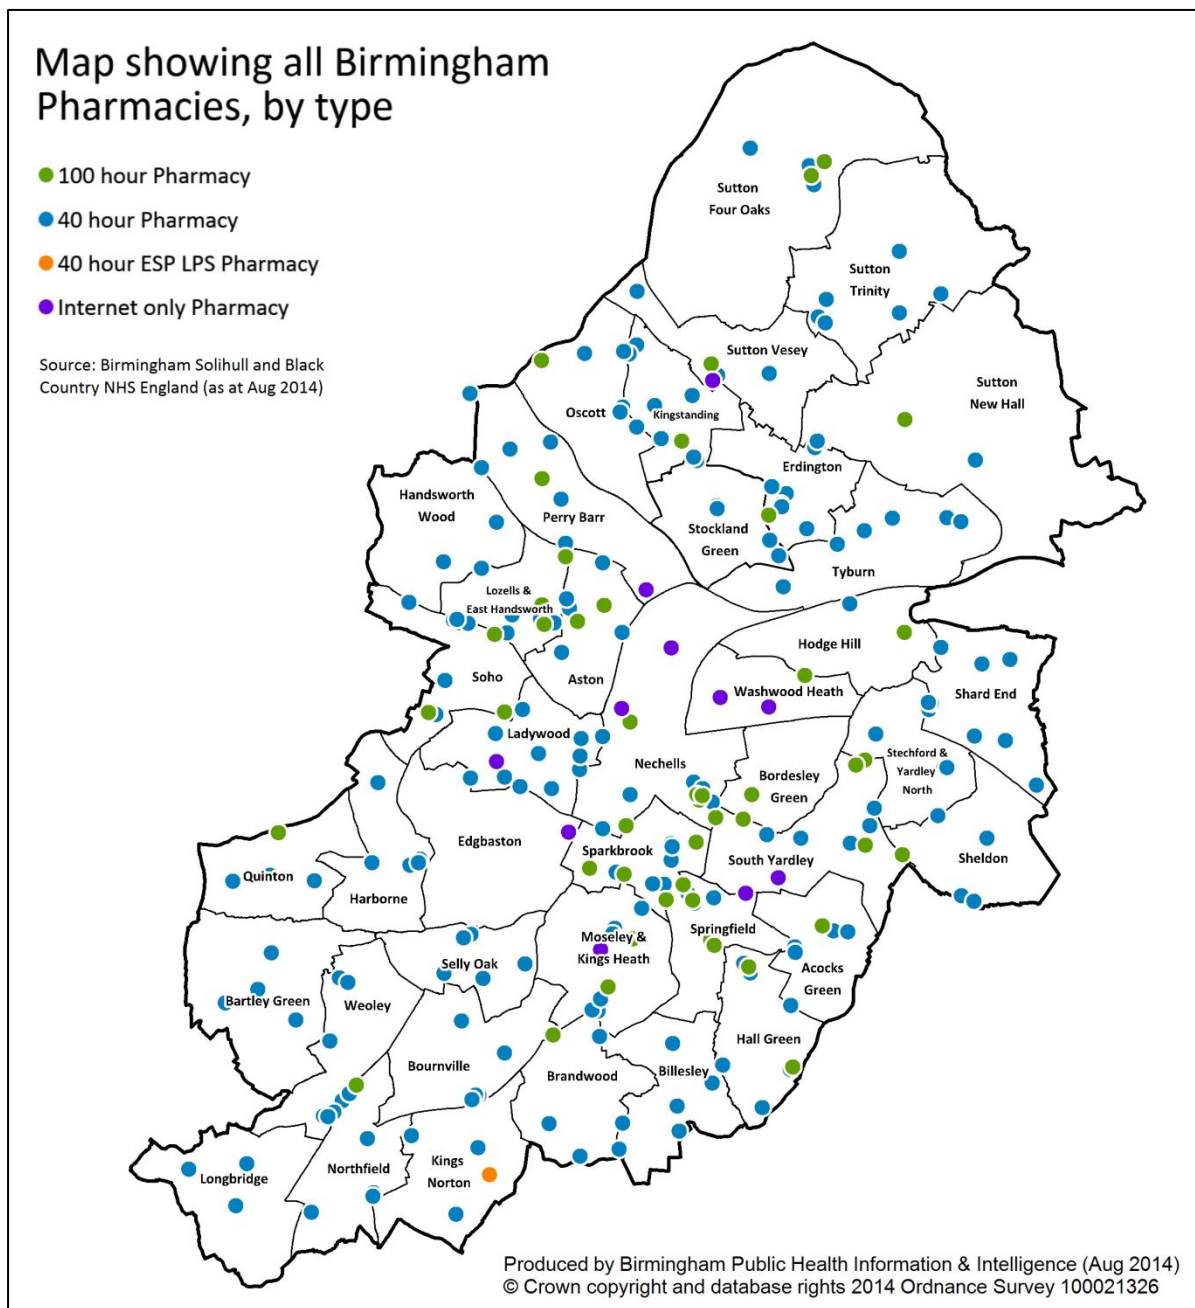

5.3.1 All pharmacies

The opening times of all pharmacies operating in Birmingham (accurate to August 2014) can be seen in Appendix 4. All pharmacies are required to open for at least 40 hours per week (core hours). Though these hours can be distributed through the week discretionally, the vast majority operate within or near regular working office hours (between 08:00 and 19:00, Monday to Friday). All pharmacies must apply to the NHS England if they wish to change their opening times, with a 90 day notice period.

5.3.2 100-hour pharmacies amend

100-hour pharmacies are required in their contracts to be open and able to provide essential services for at least 100 hours per week. The core hours are 100 hours per week. Since September 2012 these pharmacies were no longer commissioned. Pharmacies do not need a 100-hour contract to open for longer than 40 hours per week, instead existing community pharmacies can extend their opening hours by adding supplementary hours to their 40 core hours if they so wish. In order to do this NHS England needs to be given notice of the change in opening hours. Currently 54 100-hour pharmacies operate in Birmingham. The locations and type of pharmacies open in Birmingham are shown on the map in Figure 13.

Figure 13 – Location of all pharmacies in Birmingham, by opening hours

40 hour pharmacies = regular contract

100 hour pharmacies = pharmacies with a 100-hour contract

Internet pharmacies = pharmacies offering internet only services (no face to face contact)

It is important to note that the geographical placement of 100 hour pharmacies appears to be clustered in the centre of the city, with little presence in the southern wards. This is unsurprising as these pharmacies were not placed strategically or in-line with any commissioning objectives; rather many are located in large supermarkets and big stores which already had long opening hours. The vast majority of pharmacies in Birmingham work on a regular community pharmacy contract.

5.3.3 Saturday opening hours

216 of the 303 (71%) of pharmacies in Birmingham are open at some point on Saturdays, with many providing services only for the morning. There is provision for pharmacy services across Birmingham on Saturdays. Table 7 shows the number of pharmacies open on Saturdays and Sundays.

Table 7 – Pharmacies open on Saturdays and Sundays

Number of pharmacies	Open on Saturday	Remaining open after (Saturday):				Open on Sunday	Unknown opening hrs
		1pm	3pm	5pm	7pm
303	216	166	153	137	73	80	2

5.3.4 Sunday opening hours

80 of 303 (26%) of all pharmacies in Birmingham open on Sundays. Pharmacies based within large stores (over 280 square metres) are legally bound by Sunday trading regulations and can only open between 10:00 and 18:00, for a maximum of 6 consecutive hours²⁹. Table 7, above, shows the number of pharmacies open at any point on Sundays.

5.3.5 Bank Holiday provision

On public holidays and out of hours, medical care is provided by the Badger Out-Of-Hours (OOHs) GP service. The service currently covers Birmingham and normally operates 18:30pm to 8.00am Monday to Friday, and all day Saturday, Sunday and public holidays. Badger clinics (Birmingham and District General Practitioner Emergency Rooms) are aware of pharmacies that are open and dispensing during these hours. Pharmacies also operate on a rota system on Bank Holidays. The Bank Holiday rota is also posted on NHS Choices for the general public.

²⁹ Trading hours for retailers: the law. <https://www.gov.uk/trading-hours-for-retailers-the-law> [accessed 04/06/2014]

Conclusion for opening hours

There is a good geographical distribution of pharmacies across the city. During and around regular working hours (08:00 to 19:00), provision of pharmaceutical services in the city is very good.

Pharmaceutical services are accessible during weekends, with 71% of pharmacies open on Saturday and 137 (45%) opening past 17:00 on Saturdays. 80 pharmacies (26%) are available at any point on a Sunday.

5.4 Distance-Selling pharmacies

There are 11 pharmacies in Birmingham that are contracted to provide pharmacy services via the internet or mail. These are pharmacies that must adhere to all regulations concerning other pharmacies; the only additional stipulation is that they are not permitted to provide essential services dispensing face to face. These pharmacies are required to provide services to patients in the whole of England. These pharmacies will not be considered in this report, but are identified in Appendix 4.

Conclusion for distance-selling pharmacies

Distance-selling pharmacies provide pharmaceutical services nationally and so are beyond the remit of this PNA. Future PNAs should monitor the activity of such pharmacies to see if they could be utilised to provide non-essential services for the Birmingham population.

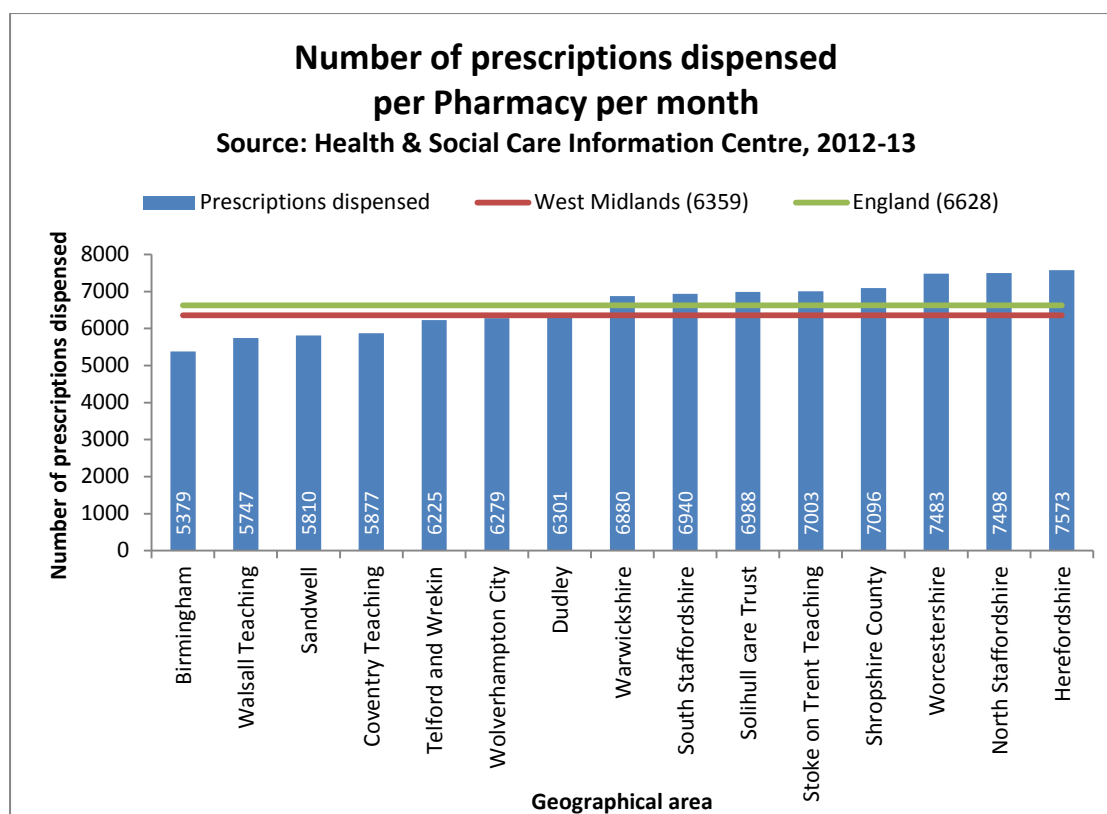

5.6 Essential Services

5.6.1 Dispensing

Each pharmacy in Birmingham dispenses 5379 items per month on average, which is lower than the West Midlands Median of 6359²⁷ (Figure 14).

This could be the result of having a considerably higher number of pharmacies than other localities (see Figures 11 and 12). This would imply that the pharmacies currently providing services have some capacity to provide services to more people. The lower number of prescriptions dispensed may also be a function of the younger age profile within the city, with younger people possibly having a lower burden of disease and thus requiring fewer medicines; however without further research into this, it is not possible to determine the true reason.

5.6.2 Cross border dispensing

The city is densely populated, and as a major part of the West Midlands conurbation, shares borders with the metropolitan areas of Solihull, Dudley, Sandwell, and Walsall. It is likely that residents of Birmingham have prescriptions dispensed in these areas, and also that residents from outside the city utilise Birmingham's pharmacies.

5.6.3 Appliances

Appliances can be dispensed by any pharmacy or appliance contractor. They can be broadly categorised as stoma appliances, incontinence appliances, and dressings. Birmingham currently has 2 appliance contractors that provide appliances (See Appendix 6).

5.6.4 Choice

As well as adequate provision of services, it is important to provide a reasonable choice of pharmacy to the population. Within the city, there appear to be a number of pharmacies within or close to all population centres, including a generally wide spread of 100-hour pharmacies. For those that require a pharmacy outside regular hours, there are many pharmacies that provide services until late in the evening and at weekends.

Conclusion for essential services

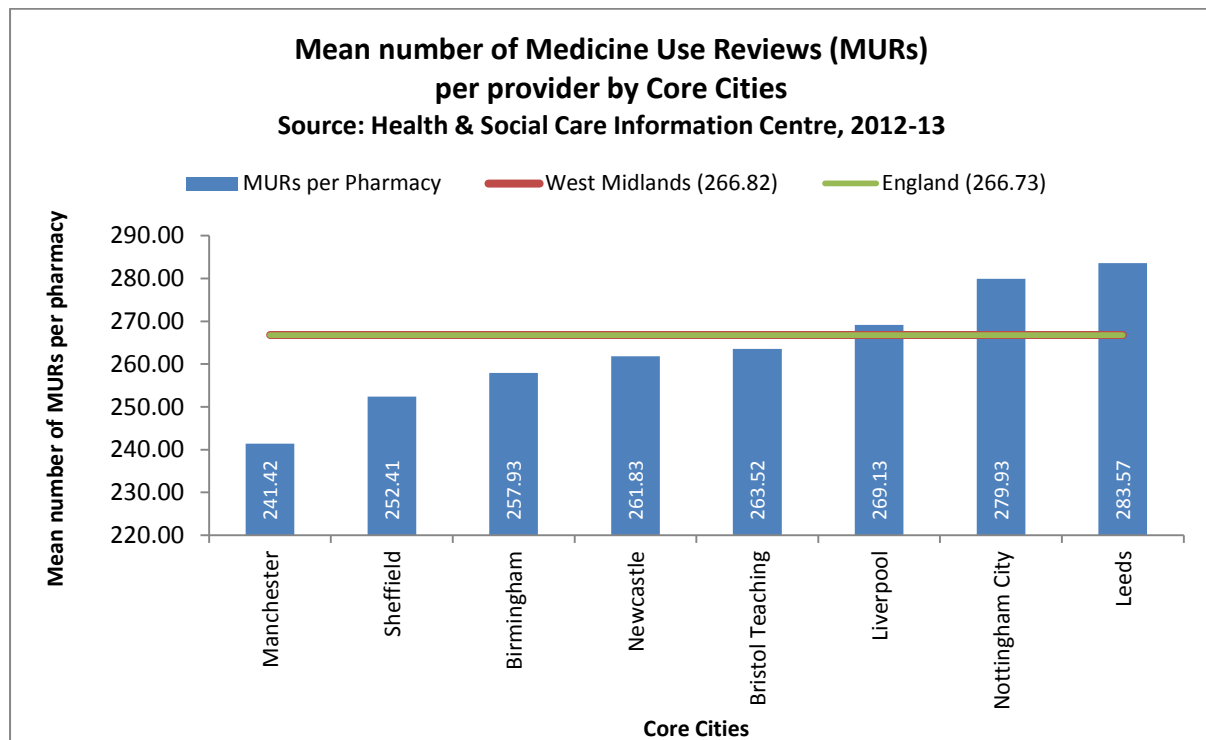

Essential services (mainly dispensing of medications) are fundamental services for the population. These services appear to be accessible for the majority of the cities' population both geographically and at different times of day. There are no gaps in the provision of core services for our population.

5.7 Advanced Services

5.7.1 Medicines Use Review (MUR)

The provision of MURs in Birmingham has increased over the past 5 years²⁷. Over 85% of pharmacies in the city provide this service. Figure 15 shows how Birmingham compares with the other Core Cities.

Of the Core Cities, Birmingham pharmacies complete less MURs per year than one might expect. As the proportion of pharmacies in Birmingham that provide MURs is broadly similar to the other Core Cities, this again suggests that the higher than average number of pharmacies in the city may explain the lower average MUR count.

Whilst the evidence behind the effectiveness of MURs remains unclear, empirically they may help the city achieve the strategic aim of 'supporting people to manage their own health', reduce hospital admissions, reduce medication wastage and provide a convenient service for people with long term conditions (LTCs). It would be of interest to evaluate the effectiveness of MURs.

5.7.2 Appliance Use Review (AUR)

AURs can be carried out by a pharmacist or a specialist nurse in the pharmacy or at the patient's home. AURs should improve the patient's knowledge and use of any 'specified appliance' listed below³⁰:

a) any of the following appliances listed in Part IXA of the Drug Tariff:

- a catheter appliance (including a catheter accessory and maintenance solution),
- a laryngectomy or tracheostomy appliance,
- an anal irrigation system,
- a vacuum pump or constrictor ring for erectile dysfunction, or
- a wound drainage pouch;

(b) an incontinence appliance listed in Part IXB of the Drug Tariff; or

(c) a stoma appliance listed in Part IXC of the Drug Tariff.

The provision of AURs in Birmingham is limited. A total of 312 AURs were conducted in Birmingham in 2011/12²⁷; no updated figures were available from NHS England. Each pharmacy can only provide a limited number of AURs, linked to the number of appliances it dispenses.

Once again, this is a service that may also be provided in the GP and secondary care setting. As the city's older population is projected to increase over the next decade, there may be a need for commissioners to monitor if the current number of providers in Birmingham (4 pharmacies and 2 appliance contractors) is sufficient to meet demand.

It is also unclear how well advertised the AUR service is to those who may benefit. Without knowing this, or the demand for such a specialist service, it is not possible to determine if the service is reaching those that could benefit. The need for pharmacy staff to be trained to provide such a service may be a barrier to wider implementation of the service.

5.7.3 Stoma Appliance Customisation (SAC)

A stoma (or ostomy) is a surgically created opening on the abdomen which allows stool or urine to exit the body. The service involves the customisation of a quantity of more than one stoma appliance, based on the patient's measurements or a template. The aim of the service is to ensure proper use and comfortable fitting of the stoma appliance and to improve the duration of usage, thereby reducing waste.

During 2011/12, 50 pharmacies provided a total of 29,243 SACs in Birmingham; no updated figures were available from NHS England. The service is designed to help ensure an appropriate and comfortable fitting stoma for patients. There is no upper limit on the number of SACs a pharmacy can conduct. People receiving stomas may also access a stoma nurse from secondary care for advice or guidance regarding their stoma. There are a range of pharmacies that provide SACs across the city.

³⁰ Pharmaceutical Services Negotiating Committee website: Appliance Use Review (AUR) <http://psnc.org.uk/services-commissioning/advanced-services/aur/> (accessed 25^{09/14})

Conclusion for advanced services

Advanced services are viewed as relevant services for the city.

The provision of MURs appears to be good for the whole city. There may be capacity for pharmacies to conduct more MURs, and for more pharmacies across the city to provide the service. This could be demand- or pharmacist-led.

Although a specialist services, commissioners may explore whether there may be scope for more existing pharmacies to provide AURs and SACs, particularly those located in parts of the city that have older populations. Pharmacies in the city are free to choose whether they should provide such services.

5.8 Enhanced Services

5.8.1 Minor Ailment Scheme (MAS)

The MAS is designed to allow minor health problems³¹ to be dealt with by a pharmacist rather than a GP, and emerged from the 'Pharmacy in England: building on strengths – delivering the future' White Paper⁸. The scheme is designed to promote and empower patients to self-care when suffering from a minor ailment. Patients exempt from paying prescription charges can access self-care advice for the treatment of minor ailments and, where appropriate, can be supplied with over the counter medicines without the requirement to attend their GP practice for an appointment. The scheme is offered as a quicker alternative for patients, however, patients are at liberty to refuse the service and continue to access healthcare in the same way as they have done previously. It also allows GPs to focus on other health needs; there is some evidence that such a service may be effective³²

The scheme allows pharmacists to provide medicines from a defined formulary for minor ailments; any patients who would not normally pay for prescriptions are also exempt from paying for these medications. Table 8 shows the increase in consultations in pharmacies offering MAS; no updated figures were available from NHS England.

Table 8 – Number of consultations in pharmacies providing MAS, by year

Year	No. consultations
2011/12	4940
2010/11	4288
2009/10	3522

In Birmingham, the service is provided by 107 pharmacies; Figure 16 shows the location of the pharmacies providing the MAS in Birmingham. A new service specification for the service is now available (Oct 2014). Historically this service was only commissioned in central and southern wards, which after the merging of Birmingham's three PCTs has resulted in an inequitable service across the city, particularly with the socioeconomically deprived wards in the eastern part of Birmingham, where the service may be of greatest use. However, it is not possible to determine gaps in the service as other non-pharmacy services may have been introduced to meet this same need.

Conclusion for MAS

MAS is considered a relevant service.

Due to historical commissioning practices, across the city there are gaps in provision of this service in the eastern and northern parts of the city; provision in the south is also patchy. The value of such a service in these areas should be factored into any commissioning decisions, particularly taking into account the deprivation of the locality being reviewed, and current services provided from non-pharmaceutical providers.

5.8.2 Smoking cessation

Smoking cessation services (also known as Stop Smoking Services or SSS) have been formally provided through pharmacies for a number of years. The service is commissioned by Public Health as part of the wider SSS, which operates through GPs, pharmacies, and specialist 'stop smoking' clinics.

Smoking remains one of the largest contributors to avoidable mortality nationally. According to the latest Public Health Outcomes Framework indicator, smoking rates in adults in Birmingham (17.5%) are similar to the England average (19.5%)³³. Smoking prevalence is not uniform within Birmingham, however, with central and deprived areas having a higher prevalence than less deprived areas³⁴.

SSS in pharmacies is recommended by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE)³⁵. Pharmacists in particular are advised to target mothers of young children that smoke as part of the guidance. 136 pharmacies in Birmingham are commissioned to deliver SSS. Figure 17 shows the location of these pharmacies in Birmingham, with each ward shaded according to estimated local smoking prevalence.

Services in pharmacies appear to be provided in wards where smoking prevalence is higher than the city's average, which is where services are needed the most. Birmingham City Council is currently undertaking a Lifestyles Needs Assessment and a service review which will impact the placement of SSS in pharmacy and other providers. Current provision of SSS through pharmacy and other primary care services (GP practices) provides good coverage for the city (see figure 17).

Conclusion for SSS

SSS are a necessary service, as they play a key role in reducing one of the biggest harms to health in the city.

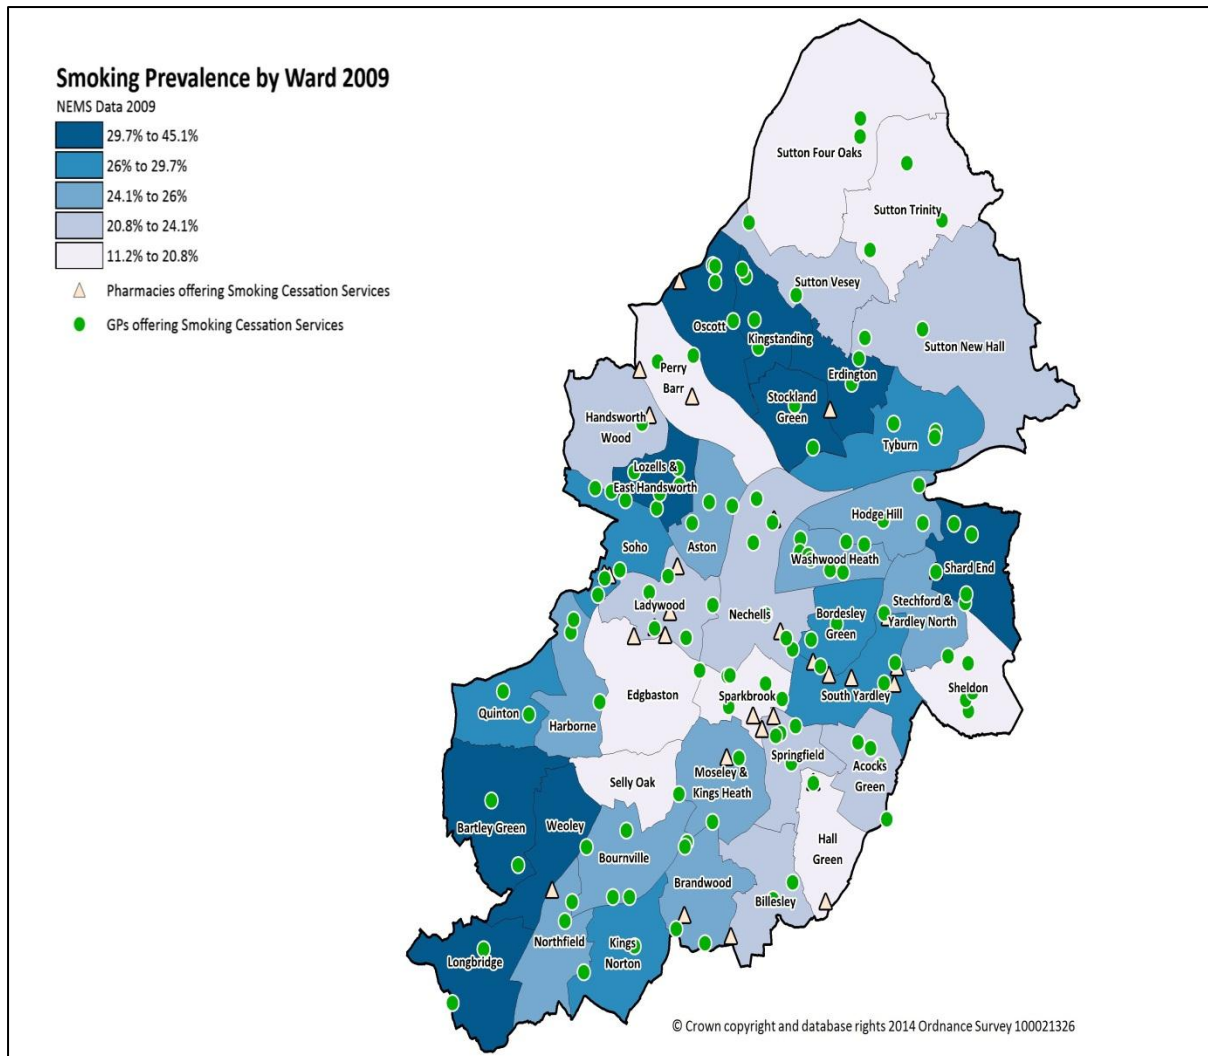

There appears to be good provision of this service across the city.

5.8.4 Needle exchange and supervised consumption

Needle exchange is a service commissioned by Public Health that enables injecting drug users (IDUs) to dispose of used needle or other injecting equipment, and obtain sterile injecting equipment for personal consumption. Service users also use these periods of contact to learn about safe injecting practice, and may be a pathway to further care or rehabilitation. There is good evidence that needle exchange services are effective in reducing harm³⁶.

The needle exchange programme is categorised as a 'harm reduction' service, in this case reducing the risk of blood-borne infections in IDUs³⁷. Figure 18 shows the locations of the 81 needle exchanges (pharmacy based) in Birmingham. Needle exchanges appear to be appropriately placed, when using the numbers of people in drug treatment as a proxy indicator for the number of IDUs. It is important to note that in addition to pharmacy, a number of additional service providers are commissioned to deliver this service across the city. Pharmacy provision therefore appears to be well distributed and sufficient for the city.

Supervised consumption is also commissioned by Public Health, and ensures that those prescribed methadone (or other substitute therapy) can obtain and take the medication safely, under direct supervision of the pharmacist. There is evidence that this method of treating people with heroin addiction is effective, and it is approved by NICE³⁸, though there is a body of opinion that disagrees with its use³⁹. Figure 19 shows the locations of the 109 supervised consumption premises in Birmingham. Overall, there appears to be good coverage of the majority of the city, including areas where the highest number of Opiate and Crack Users (OCU) are thought to reside.

Conclusion for needle exchange and supervised consumption

Both these services are considered necessary.

Supervised consumption, along with needle exchange remain key programmes for the prevention of harm in the city, especially in our vulnerable populations. Both services appear to be located appropriately,

Both services are monitored by Birmingham Public Health to see if any or part of these services should be commissioned further or reconfigured according to local need.

5.8.5 Emergency contraception

Emergency Hormonal Contraception (EHC) is provided to women that believe they are at risk of becoming pregnant. EHC is generally effective in the first 72 hours post-intercourse, though it is more effective the earlier it is taken. The service commissioned by Birmingham Public Health for those aged 13-21 years, who can receive it free of charge in pharmacies. This provision is in addition to GPs, specialist contraceptive clinics, and GUM clinics.

The aim of the service is to provide safe and simple access for this population, who may otherwise be reluctant to do so. In the absence of clear evidence of effectiveness, the service was introduced to help reduce the number of teenage pregnancies in the city.

Teenage pregnancy rates have dropped and in 2012 Birmingham had an under-18 conception rate of 30 per 1000 females aged 15-17 years, which was higher than the England rate (27.7 per 1000)⁴⁰. There exists wide variation across the city with the majority of conceptions occurring in the immediate north and southern edges of the city. Birmingham has a higher than average level of repeat abortions.

A total of 138 pharmacies provide the service in the city, seen in Figure 20. There appears to be a good geographical spread of providers across the city. In addition to pharmacies, free EHC is available from:

- GP surgery that provides contraception
- contraception clinic
- a sexual health clinic
- some genitourinary medicine (GUM) clinics
- some young people's clinics
- most NHS walk-in centres and minor injuries units
- some Accident & Emergency departments

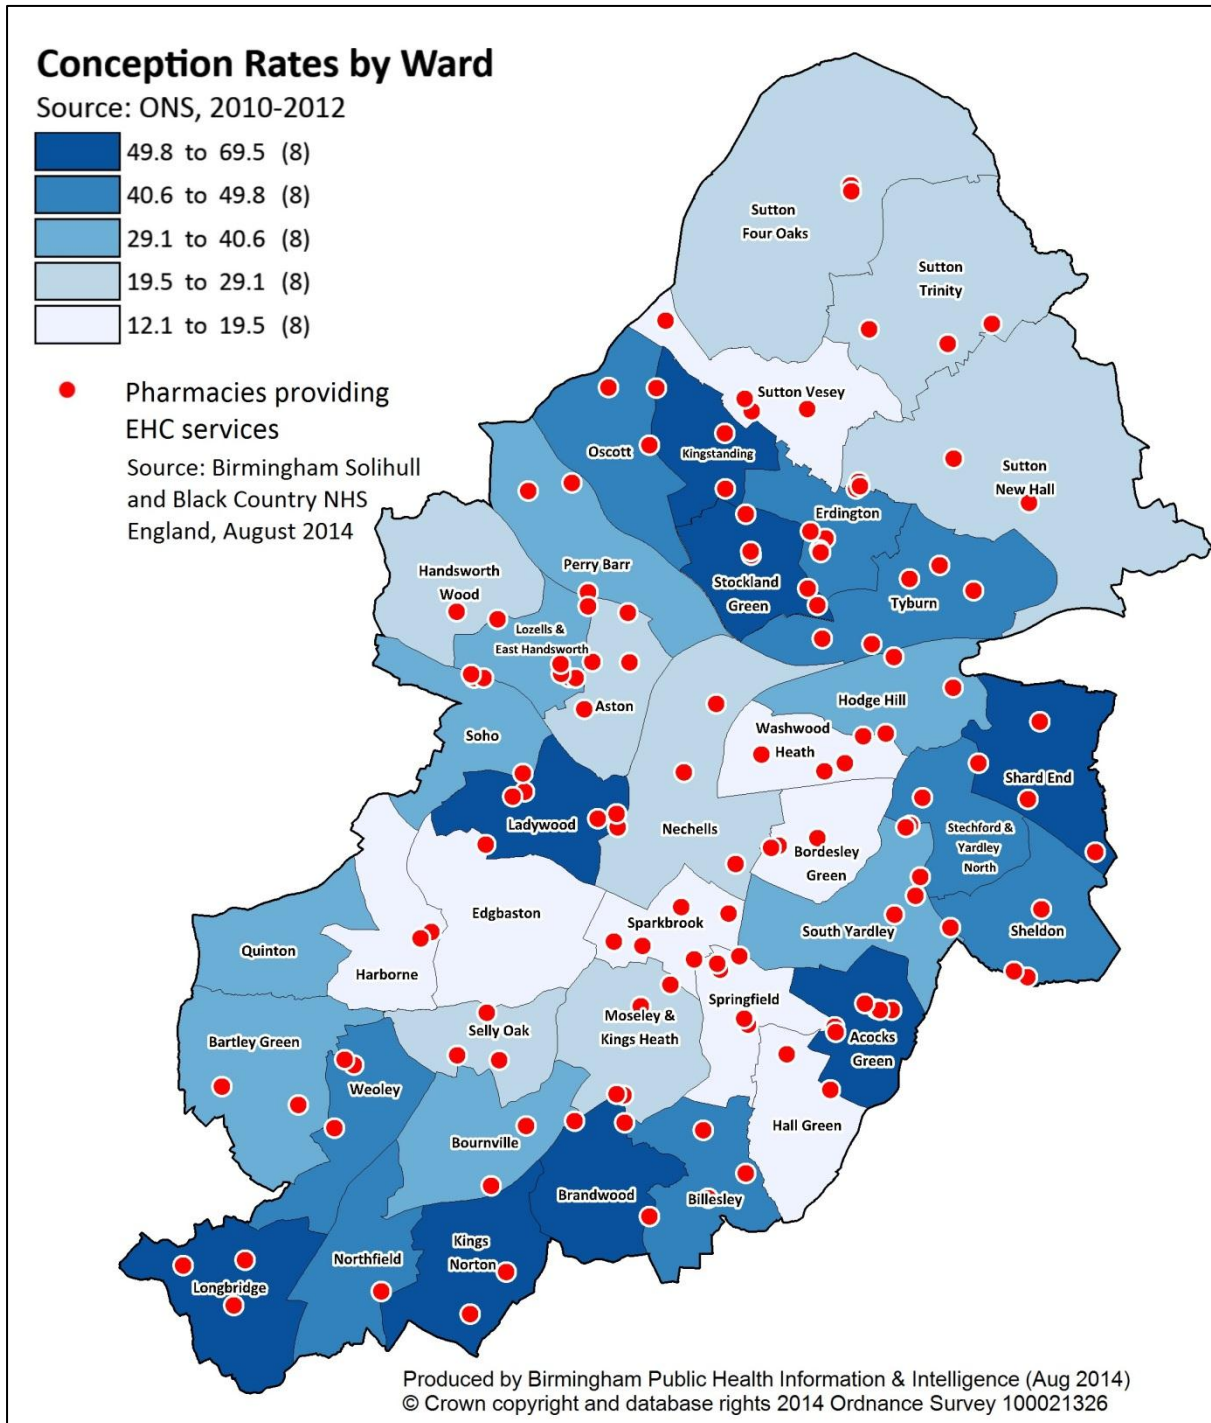

These are commissioned services, but pharmacies have the option of providing EHC privately and so will not be included in this report. Pharmacies commissioned to provide the service appear to be well located, in areas where the teenage pregnancy rate is at its highest in Birmingham.

Conclusion for emergency contraception

EHC is considered to be a necessary service for the city, and is available free for 13-21 year olds at a wide range of pharmacies in Birmingham. There are no gaps in the provision of this service, and localities with the highest teenage conception rates in Birmingham have generally good provision.

5.8.6 Dermatology dispensing

There are 2 pharmacies in the city that dispense specialist dermatology medications in the city. This service allows people that attend community-based dermatology clinics to receive appropriate medications in a nearby community pharmacy. In particular, oral retinoids can be dispensed, which may be used in the treatment of acne or psoriasis.

The 2 pharmacies are located near to the 2 community dermatology clinics in the city (Figure 21), at the following locations:

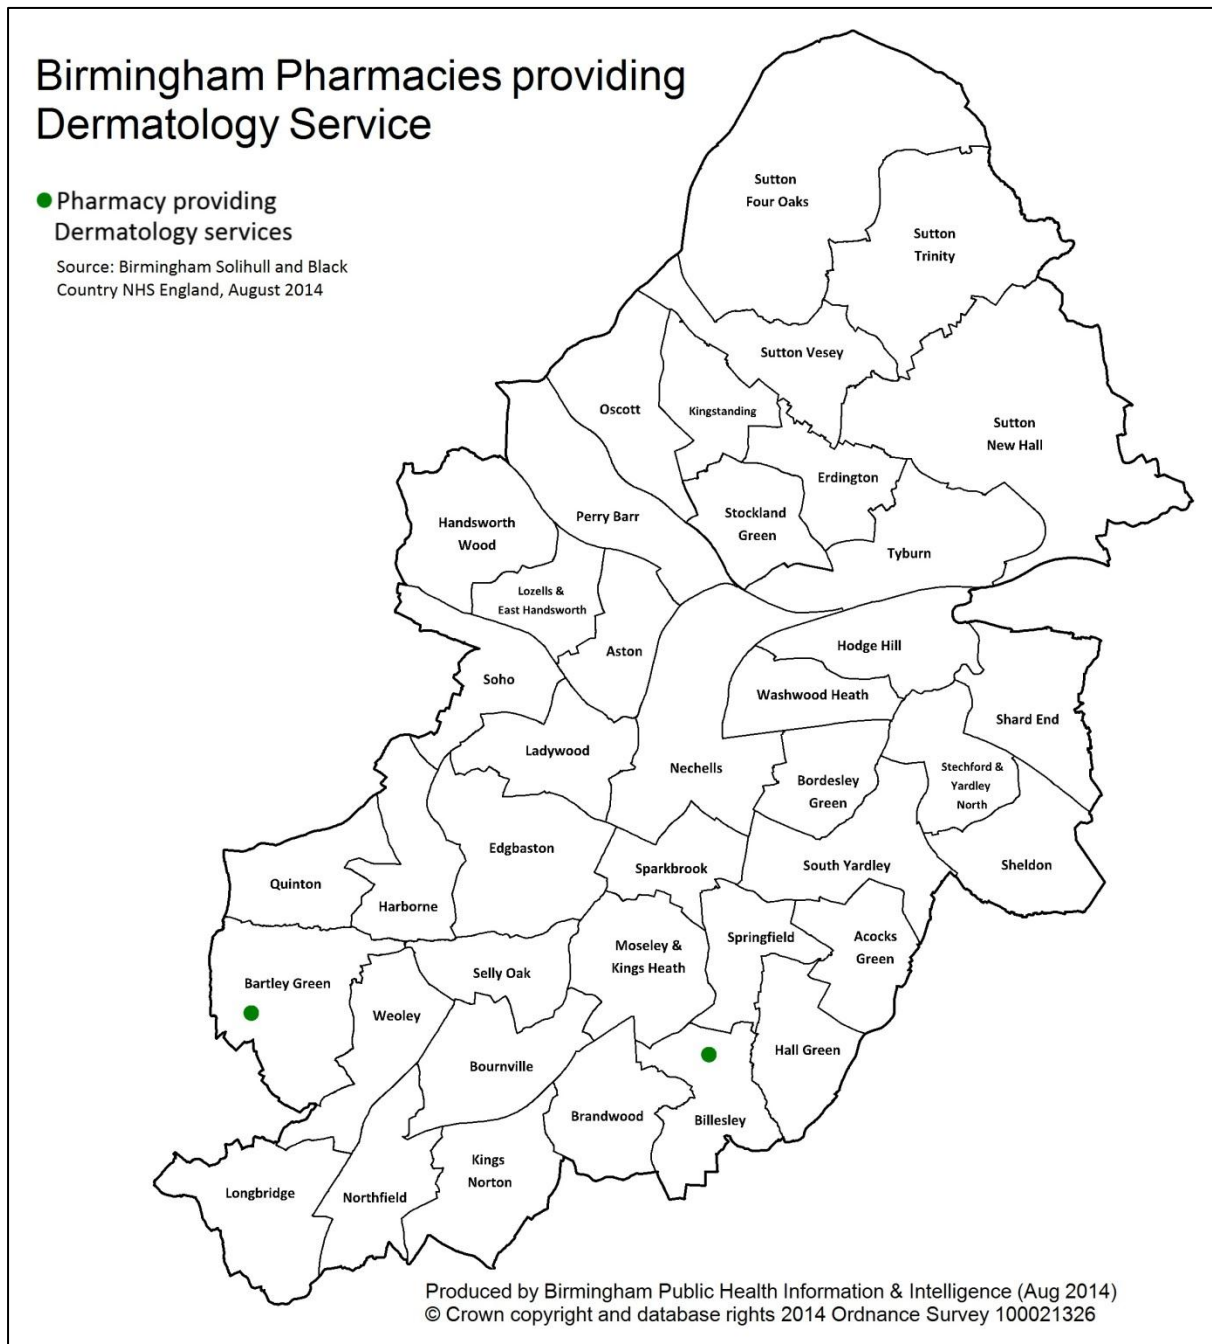

- Woodgate Valley Health Centre, 61 Stevens Avenue, Woodgate Valley, Birmingham, B32 3SD. Clinic every Monday morning.
- Greenridge Surgery, 671 Yardley Wood Road, Billesley, Birmingham, B13 0HN. Clinics every Tuesday and Thursday.

The service is therefore located appropriately.

Conclusion for dermatology dispensing

This service is considered a relevant service, and provision is adequate in the city. Should further community-based clinics be commissioned, this service can be developed accordingly.

5.8.7 Advice to residential and nursing homes

This service is designed to assist patients and staff at care homes in the appropriate administration and use of medications. The formal aims relate to:

- The proper effective ordering of drugs and appliances for the benefit of residents in the care home
- The clinical and cost-effective use of drugs
- The proper effective administration of drugs and appliances in the care home
- The safe and appropriate storage and handling of drugs and appliances
- The recording of drugs and appliances ordered, handled, administered, stored and the safe disposed of patient medicines

There are 9 pharmacies in the city providing this service to care homes with and without nursing care (see Table 9). Most of these providers are in or near the centre of the city (Figure 22). Pharmacists visit each establishment once per quarter to provide the service. Each pharmacy may provide services to more than one home, but are indicated on Figure 22 as a single dot.

There is evidence to suggest this approach can be effective in reducing medication waste (and costs)^{41,42} although there is less evidence regarding changes in clinical outcomes including morbidity and mortality.

GPs can provide similar services (such as medication reviews) to care homes. Thus, the impact of introducing this service to homes that already receive such a service from a GP may be limited. Care homes and pharmacies in the city that are not covered by this service (particularly those in the north and south), could be approached by the commissioners to see if such a service may be beneficial.

Conclusion for advice to residential and nursing homes

This service is a relevant service. There is less provision across the northern and southern parts of the city. There is scope to introduce this service for other care homes should commissioners see a local need and there are existing pharmacies willing to provide it.

5.8.8 Palliative care access

The palliative care drugs access service is commissioned to:

- Hold agreed stocks of Specialist Palliative Care Drugs (SPCD)
- Allow timely access to specialist palliative care drugs during extensive pharmacy opening hours including into the evening 7 days per week in a variety of locations
- Signpost to alternative providers of the service where, in exceptional circumstances, the required specialist palliative drugs cannot be supplied in a timely fashion
- Meet the needs of the healthcare professionals and other service users (e.g. Palliative Care Team, carers, patients) who require access to this service
- Enhance the care and safety of palliative patients with regards to treatment

This service is especially important as it enables patients who are being treated palliatively, to die at home if they wish to do so. There are 17 pharmacies in Birmingham that provide this service, with a good geographical spread across the city (Figure 23).

In addition to pharmacies, a number of existing non-pharmacy services have been commissioned historically in primary care, secondary and community health care, and also with hospices and third sector providers. A new strategy is currently out for consultation and sets out plans for an integrated palliative and end of life care system across Birmingham⁴³. Service review is currently underway in order to ensure service provision can meet need.

In terms of pharmacy provision, only 12 of the 17 pharmacies that provide the service in Birmingham are open 7 days a week, and 4 are available 6 days per week. As well as ensuring current providers of the service are open when needed, there may be scope for more of the city's pharmacy contractors to provide this service so that there is easier access for the population. This is especially true in the northern and southern parts of the city, where there are a higher proportion of older people that may have particular use for the service. Also as the city's elderly population increases in number this service may require review.

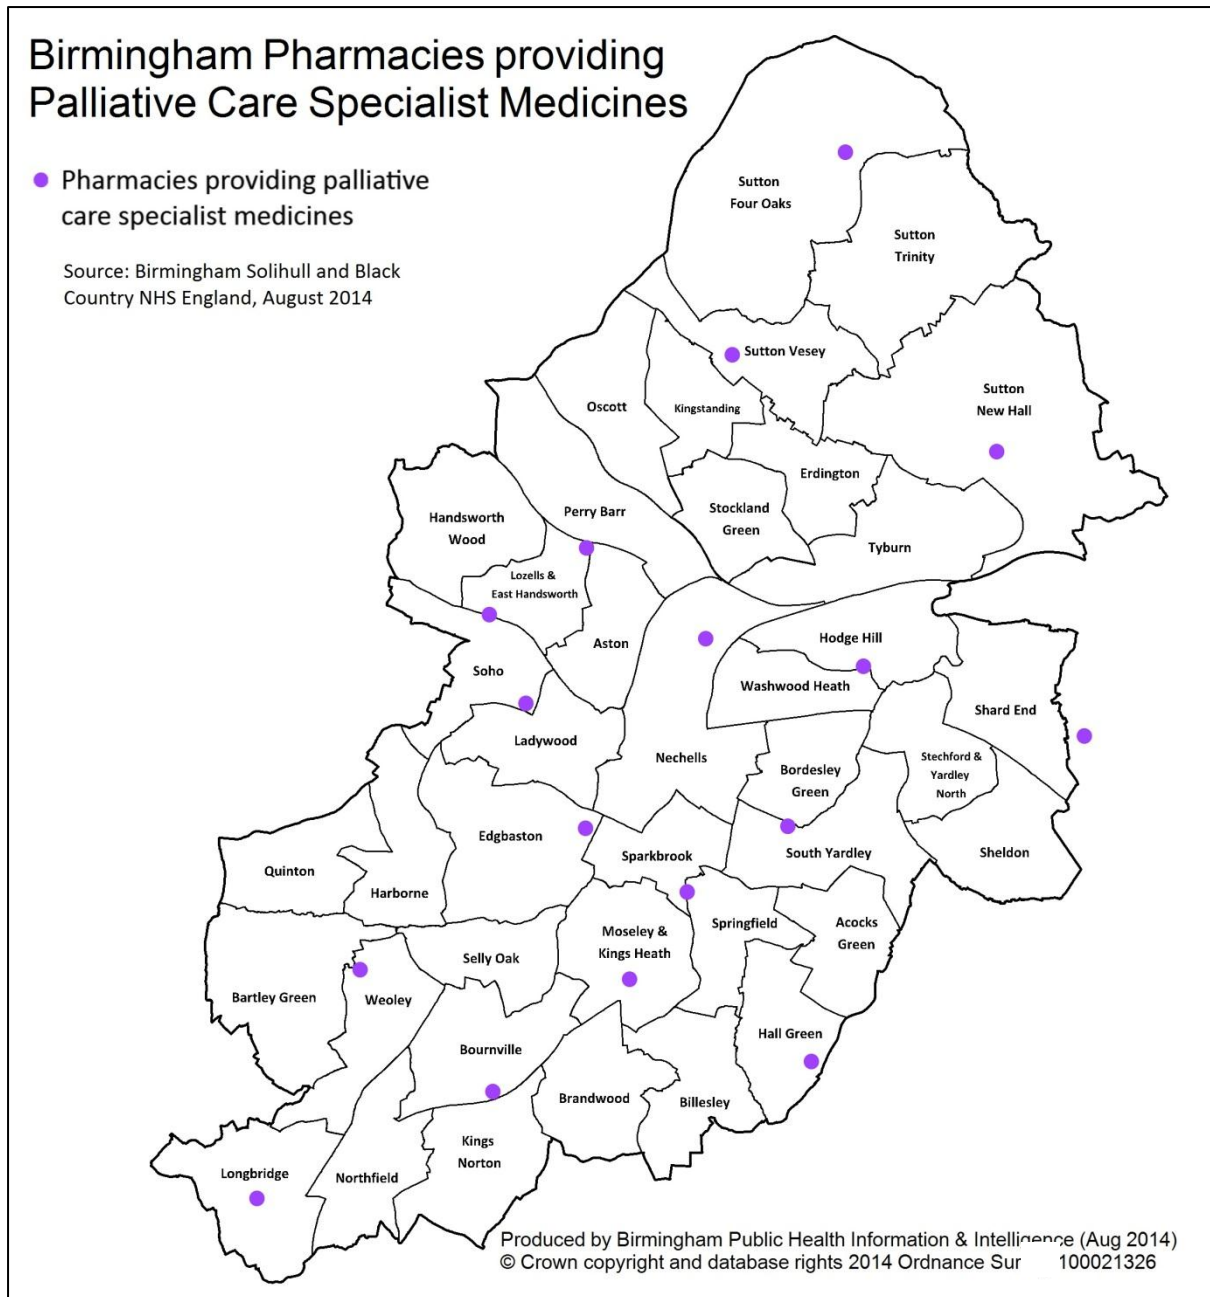

Conclusion for pharmacy palliative care service

This is considered a necessary service.

The service is provided in many parts of the city. The current service review should ensure provision meets demand across the city.

6. CONSULTATION AND ENGAGEMENT

Summary

PHARMACY ENGAGEMENT

- 292 Pharmacies in Birmingham were invited to take part in this Questionnaire. At survey close on 14 July, 203 questionnaires were submitted via BeHeard (on-line survey) and through meetings between the LPC and Pharmacies.
- The questionnaire was based on current service provision and staff competency (qualification, training) and does not allow for additional commentary. However, it is clear from the responses that many of these Pharmacies are willing to provide more or additional public health services providing they received adequate funding and training.

Access

Overall, Pharmacies offer core opening hours between 9am-5pm, with some Pharmacies offering slightly extended services to 6pm or 7pm, such as Boots and IntraPharm. Only a few Pharmacies offered late night opening hours (Canon Hill Pharmacy, some branches of Boots, Pak Pharmacy, Twilight Pharmacy, Shifa Pharmacy, and Advance).

Facilities

- 94% of Pharmacies stated they had consultation facilities, with 83% stating they had wheelchair access. 90% stated these were closed rooms. It is unclear what the definition of a closed room is and this may include areas that have partitions as walls which may not reach the ceiling, and therefore provide less privacy.
- Additionally, only 50% of Pharmacies stated they had hand washing facilities in the room, and even less (40%) stated they had toilet facilities available. This will be a consideration for some screening tests, for example diabetes, where urine samples are needed.

Electronic Prescription Services

Majority (79-96%) of Pharmacies appear to be EPS (release 1 and/or release 2) enabled.

Services Provided

- Response to “dispensed appliances” was positive with a large proportion offering the service. However, provision of Advanced Services was mixed – both MUR and NMS services were well represented. However, AURS and SACS were both under represented with over a third of Pharmacies stating they did not offer these services and were not intending to provide.
- Enhanced Services also fared poorly with up to 3% of Pharmacies currently providing enhanced services under contract with CCG, Local Authority or Area Team. However, up to 79% of Pharmacies were willing to provide these services if commissioned. Disease Specific Medicine Management Services were also similarly represented.

- Pharmacists showed a willingness to provide Vaccination and Screening Services if commissioned to do so (up to 89%). However, both these groups had the highest proportion of Pharmacies not able to provide these services (Vaccinations 4-7.3%; Screening 4.7-11.4%) which will need to be considered in future commissioning.
- 88% pharmacies were able to provide gender appropriate services if requested (female staff available for female patients and vice versa).

Staff and Brief Interventions

- 96% of respondents promote healthy lifestyles outside the services they are contracted to provide; however 47% did not respond when asked if they felt supported in this area. Taken in conjunction with the results of the public questionnaire, this may imply that pharmacies may require additional support and guidance in providing brief interventions on public health topics
- Suggestions for future support included better and more frequent training, and a training induction pack for each new campaign. This pack may also be useful in ensuring a consistent standard of delivery and ensure accurate and adequate information is passed to the user.

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

The questionnaire was launched on the Birmingham BeHeard website on 10 June 2014 and closed on 14 July 2014.

- At close, there were 143 responses recorded on Birmingham BeHeard (including postal entries added manually (verbatim) by Public Health). An additional 37 questionnaires were received after the deadline and comments incorporated into the review where appropriate.
- Comments expressed in this survey show Pharmacies are well valued and used by the local communities. However, local knowledge of which services are available and where is inconsistent and patchy. Better promotion of services, including free and chargeable.
- Access to Pharmacy is good, with disabled access being available. However parking difficulties have been cited as an area of concern. It will be especially difficult for town centre Pharmacies where on- and off-road parking may be restricted. Prescription collect and delivery services may be useful to address this area.
- Location is also important. Close to the surgery or work place are of particular interest and longer opening hours, both in the morning and evening, to accommodate those at work and those with late appointments at surgeries, will continue to be important. 62% of respondents did not use a single regular pharmacy; 38% used one pharmacy and 54% used 3, 4 or more pharmacies.

- There is a variety of comments concerning Pharmacy staff knowledge and customer service – from being friendly and helpful, to being obstructive and refusing medication. There is obviously more work to be done in this area.
- Several comments referred to confidentiality. In particular, stating your name and address when collecting prescriptions. Consideration should be given to how prescriptions can be dispensed whilst preserving the confidentiality of a patient.

7. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

CONCLUSIONS

This Needs Assessment provides information regarding the ability of current pharmacy provision to meet the needs of Birmingham. Birmingham is, overall, a city with a rich cultural and ethnic diversity, socio-economic deprivation, and poorer health compared to England. The population distribution is also younger than the country overall. The geographical distribution of deprivation, ill-health and other such factors is very uneven within Birmingham, with affluent pockets near the universities and large parkland areas that have a smaller population size..

Over the coming years the population in Birmingham is expected to both age and grow substantially in numbers. An increase in population size is likely to generate an increased need for pharmaceutical services, but on a local level changes in population size may not necessarily be directly proportionate to changes in the number of pharmaceutical service providers required, due to the range of other factors influencing local pharmaceutical needs.

There are 303 pharmacy providers (as sourced by Birmingham Solihull and Black Country NHS England), 2 appliance contractors, and no dispensing doctors in Birmingham. All provide essential services as defined in this document. There appears to be good provision of these services to the city, with no gaps identified. There are a higher number of pharmacies per 100,000 population than comparator cities, with good geographic distribution. There are 2 appliance contractors in the heart of the city that can provide appliances in addition to the pharmacies providing this service. There is no need for further pharmacies in the city at this time.

Pharmacies' wider role in improving health

Pharmaceutical services play an important role in helping the HWB and their partners deliver the desired health outcome for the population of Birmingham. Services that utilise pharmacists rather than other clinical staff such as nurses or doctors also help with the Health and Wellbeing Board priority to improve the resilience of our health and care system⁴⁴

The PNA shows that those pharmaceutical services delivered by the community pharmacies across the borough are well placed to improve access for patients. Community pharmacists should be considered when commissioning services as they are in an ideal situation to serve local populations and to contribute to the wider self-care and prevention agenda.

In order that the public can benefit more widely from the current pharmaceutical services on offer it is suggested that public promotion of pharmacies is necessary. This is not necessarily a focus just for the local commissioners and contractors themselves, but should also be addressed by the national and local pharmacy bodies.

⁴⁴ Birmingham Health and Wellbeing Board, Health and Wellbeing Strategy <http://hwb.birmingham.gov.uk/health-and-wellbeing-strategy/strategy-on-a-page/> [accessed 06/06/2014]

Current services across Birmingham

Pharmaceutical provision has increased from 26.3 pharmacies per 100,000 population in 2011 to 27.4 pharmacies per 100,000 population in 2014. There are 303 pharmacies in Birmingham, with a reduced provision in the evenings, however 54 pharmacies in Birmingham are contracted to open for at least 100 hours per week.

There is good provision of pharmaceutical services on weekends, with 216 pharmacies opening at some point on Saturday, and 137 open past 5pm. 80 pharmacies open for some time on Sundays.

Primary Care Developments

As the new NHS structure is in its third year there will inevitably be some movement of commissioned services between the new NHS organisations and changes in Local Authority. This has inevitably led to many services being reviewed and reconfigured and de-commissioned. As this document outlines a number of service reviews are currently ongoing and may impact service provision across the city; these services include sexual health, lifestyles, palliative care services and substance misuse.

Any potential change to pharmacy services should be based on the population need of the local areas of which the PNA, along with the JSNA and HWB strategy, is an important document to inform such decisions.

Conclusion on pharmaceutical provision

Overall pharmacies across the city offer a wide range of services and a good level of access that is sufficient to meet the needs of the population.

Pharmacies in Birmingham provide a range of locally commissioned services that are appropriate to the population. Some services may benefit from further development and some of this is currently underway, for example, due to historical commissioning arrangements, MAS has no presence in some of the most deprived wards in the city and this service is currently being reviewed by commissioners with a new service specification published (Oct 2014).

As the city's younger (0-15 years) and older population (65 and over) are predicted to increase over the next 15 years, it is important to ensure appropriate service provision across the city. Demand for services such as SAC and AUR should be reviewed to ensure good provision, and services such as advice offered to care/residential homes could also be developed further.

Whilst this report presents pharmaceutical provision, a range of providers may be involved in delivering these services to patients. Using the PNA, the commissioners of each enhanced service may determine where each need may be met by pharmacies in Birmingham, and commission services accordingly.

Therefore gaps in services should be addressed to best meet the needs of patients using all providers – not just community pharmacies. Where further or new enhanced services are being commissioned these should be done across existing pharmacies.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That currently there are sufficient pharmaceutical services to meet the needs of the population.

For Commissioners

2. To ensure pharmacy provision is equitable across the city, with services being relevant to key issues in each ward.

7. For commissioners of statutory and locally defined services to work with pharmacies to increase awareness of pharmacy services. This would help services to be used more effectively and contribute to the improvement of the health of the local population.

8. To plan pharmaceutical services for projected demographic changes, for example the expected increase in young (under 15 years) and a growing elderly population (see Section 4.1.8)

- Service provision should also be reviewed in the event of new housing developments and new estates.
- Monitoring of cross-border dispensing

5. To ensure pharmacy services are in-line with wider service reviews and strategies across the city.

For the Health and Wellbeing Board:

9. To ensure there are systems in place to monitor potential changes that will affect the delivery of pharmaceutical services and have a process in place to decide whether the changes are significant and hence what action it needs to take.

For Pharmacists

10. To ensure patients are aware of services that may improve access to services, such as language services.
